A WORD TO MY DEAR STUDENTS

It gives me great pleasure in presenting the Students' Support Material to all KV students of class XII.

The material has been prepared keeping in mind your needs when you are preparing for final exams and wish to revise and practice questions or when you want to test your ability to complete the question paper in the time allotted or when you come across a question while studying that needs an immediate answer but going through the text book will take time or when you want to revise the complete concept or idea in just a minute or try your hand at a question from a previous CBSE Board exam paper or the Competitive exam to check your understanding of the chapter or unit you have just finished. This material will support you in any way you want to use it.

A team of dedicated and experienced teachers with expertise in their subjects has prepared this material after a lot of exercise. Care has been taken to include only those items that are relevant and are in addition to or in support of the text book. This material should not be taken as a substitute to the NCERT text book but it is designed to supplement it.

The Students' Support Material has all the important aspects required by you; a design of the question paper, syllabus, all the units/chapters or concepts in points, mind maps and information in tables for easy reference, sample test items from every chapter and question papers for practice along with previous years Board exam question papers.

I am sure that the Support Material will be used by both students and teachers and I am confident that the material will help you perform well in your exams. Happy learning!

Commissioner, KVS
FOREWORD

The Students' Support Material is a product of an in-house academic exercise undertaken by our subject teachers under the supervision of subject expert at different levels to provide the students a comprehensive, yet concise, learning support tool for consolidation of your studies. It consists of lessons in capsule form, mind maps, concepts with flow charts, pictorial representation of chapters wherever possible, crossword puzzles, question bank of short and long answer type questions with previous years' CBSE question papers.

The material has been developed keeping in mind latest CBSE curriculum and question paper design. This material provides the students a valuable window on precise information and it covers all essential components that are required for effective revision of the subject.

In order to ensure uniformity in terms of content, design, standard and presentation of the material, it has been fine tuned at KVS Hqrs level.

I hope this material will prove to be a good tool for quick revision and will serve the purpose of enhancing students' confidence level to help them perform better. Planned study blended with hard work, good time management and sincerity will help the students reach the pinnacle of success.

Best of Luck.

READING COMPREHENSION

STRATEGIES FOR ATTEMPTING COMPREHENSION

1- Read the title.

2- Quickly skim through the questions. This will help you to predict what the passage/poem is about. It will help you to read and understand its contents with more clarity and will keep your mind focused on its theme.

3- Focus on the question that tests vocabulary skills. Read the antonym/synonym given. Look at the numbers of the paragraphs. Write each word against its respective paragraph. This gives you a ready reference and helps you to identify the word in the passage/para while reading.

4- While reading do the following:
   a. Underline the content words
   b. Underline the possible answers of the given questions. It will help you to identify the answers faster.
   c. Encircle the words that are answers for the vocabulary. Normally a noun for noun, a verb for a verb and an adverb for an adverb etc.

5- Answer the questions -
   a. The underlined content will help you to find the answer.
   b. If confused between two words:
      i. Choose the word of the same part of speech/form
      ii. Read the sentence with the word in the question in place of the ones you are choosing from the passage.

6- Additional tips:
   a. Write clearly and neatly.
   b. Keep in mind the marks allotted to each question.
   c. Do not leave any question unanswered.
PASSAGE - 1

1. The children probably don't know, or they don't care, the hugely popular WWF wrestling matches are actually all staged acts. The Hulks, the Undertaker or whatever else they are called-never really punch or kick as hard as they might appear doing on the show. It's all a show, a thrilling show.

2. So, you can't really blame children for getting hooked. But does that necessarily mean the show is entirely responsible for beating 12-year-old Subin Kumar got from his WWF inspired friends? Can viewing or watching violence on TV actually promote aggressive behaviour in children?

3. Media experts and social scientists have been wrestling with this question for decades and thousands of studies have been done on it. And most of them reached the same conclusion-media violence is responsible for aggressive behavior in children.

4. Research has found that the more violence children watch on television, the more likely they may act in aggressive ways towards others. Also, they become less sensitive to others pain and are less likely to help a victim of violence.

5. A study of violence on Indian television and its impact on children commissioned by UNESCO accused the idiot box of "bombarding young minds with all kinds of violent images, cutting across channels, programmes and viewing times."

6. Not only studies, but also incidents go to prove that children who watch violent episodes show increased likelihood of behaving aggressively.

7. There have been reports from all over the country of children hurting themselves while trying to ape the superman feats of Shaktiman, the superhero of Indian TV. Then there was the six-year-old child of Lucknow who leapt off the balcony of his second floor flat trying to imitate a bungee jumping drop shown in a soft drinks commercial.

8. There's no doubt that media is a powerful teacher and contributes greatly to the way we act and behave. In some cases like these, the effects are immediate and in others there is a "sleeper effect", where the results show up much later.

9. Experts say it's incorrect to blame the media squarely. How would you explain the aggressive behavior of a child who has never been exposed to television or any other media? So, while there is mounting evidence to link media violence and actual violence, most of it does not prove a direct cause-and-effect relationship. Because no one so far has been able to prove why and how TV affects some people and not the others. "we also have to take into account individual differences and vulnerabilities as human behavior is result of many factors," points out Dr. Vasantha R. Patri, a counsellor, adding, "violence viewing is only one of the myriad influences on a growing child."

10. Patri says there exists a population of risk individuals whose anger, aggression and anti-social tendencies are already quite high for whatever reason. Other factors like individual predisposition of the child, parental attitudes and reaction to aggression are probably equally important. In fact, she says that in most cases media is only the fourth most important influence in child's life—with parents, teachers and peers being the first three.

11. Patri points out that the growing "here-and-now" culture in which kids are getting used to immediate gratification is leading to an intolerant society on the whole. "Children are not taught how to handle failure and conflict," she says. "As a result, they resort to aggression."

12. But media critics refuse to buy it. They insist the content of media needs to be monitored and care be taken to reduce violence if not remove it. But even if all the gore and violence is completely removed from the media, will it make a significant difference in aggressive behavior of children? And then how do you justify the facts that studies have shown that viewing violence on TV also provides an opportunity to discharge the pent-up, aggressive feelings of anger, hostility and frustration.

13. "The problem is not with the media, but the lack of media education," points out Patri. "No one teaches the children how to assess the reality status of TV programmes." Good parenting, she says, is perhaps the greatest defence against the negative effects of violent images on TV.

14. Experts say it's time that parents and teachers took a long, hard look at themselves in the mirror. Say's Patri, "Most parents treat TV as a baby-sitter when it suits them. And when something goes wrong, they turn around and blame TV for it!"

   (ii) More sensitive and less helpful
   (iii) Lazy
   (iv) Less sensitive and less helpful

B. Answer the following questions briefly:
   (a) Does violence on TV promote children's aggressive behavior? What is the opinion of media experts and social scientists?
   (b) What two points have emerged from research on media violence?
   (c) What two incidents are cited to prove the aggressive behavior of children as an outcome of watching violence on TV?
   (d) What factors other than violence viewing are important for causing aggressiveness in child?
   (e) How, do you think can the problem be solved?
   (f) Find a word in the passage (Para 1) similar in meaning as ‘exciting’
   (g) Find words in the passage (Para 9) which means ‘an extremely large number of something’.
PASSAGE - 2

1. Among the natural resources which can be called upon in national plans for development, possibly the most important is human labour. Since the English language suffers from a certain weakness in its ability to describe groups composed of both male and female members, this is usually described as "manpower".

2. Without a productive labour force, including effective leadership and intelligent middle management, no amount of foreign assistance or of natural wealth can ensure successful development and modernization.

3. The manpower for development during the next quarter century will come from the world's present population of infants, children and adolescents. But we are not sure that they will be equal to task. Will they have the health, the education, the skills, the socio-cultural attitudes essential for the responsibilities of development?

4. For far too many of them the answer is no. The reason is basic. A child's most critical years, with regard to physical, intellectual, social, and emotional development, are those before he reaches five years of age. During those critical formative years he is cared for almost exclusively by his mother and in many parts of the world the mother may not have the capacity to raise a superior child. She is incapable of doing so by reason of her own poor health, her ignorance and her lack of status and recognition of social and legal rights, of economic party of independence. One essential factor has been overlooked and ignored. The forgotten factor is the role of women. Development will be handicapped as long as women remain second class citizen, uneducated without any voice in family or community, decisions without legal or economic status, married when they are still practically children, and henceforth producing one baby after another, often to see half of them die before they are of school age.

5. We can enhance development by improving 'women power', by giving women the opportunity to develop themselves. Statistics show that the average family size increases in inverse ratio to the mother's years of education- is lowest among college graduates, highest among those with only primary school training, or no education. Malnutrition is most frequent in large families, and increases in frequency with each additional sibling. The principle seems established that an educated mother has healthier and more intelligent children, and that is related to the fact that she has fewer children. The tendency of educated, upper class mothers to have fewer children operates even without access to contraceptive services.

6. The educational level of women is significant also because it has a direct influence upon their chances of employment, and the number of employed women in country's total labour force has a direct bearing on both the gross national product and disposable income of the individual family. Disposable income, especially in the hands of women, influences food purchasing and therefore the nutritional status of the family. The fact that the additional income derives from the paid employment of women provides a logical incentive to restrict the size of the family.
QUESTIONS:

A. Choose the most appropriate option:

(a) Among the natural resources which can be called upon in national plans for development..............
   (i) The most important is certainly human labour.
   (ii) The most important is possibly human labour.
   (iii) The least developed is certainly human labour.
   (iv) The least developed is undoubtedly human labour.

(b) Without a productive labour force, including effective leadership and intelligent middle management..............
   (i) No productive work is possible.
   (ii) Entrepreneurs will incur heavy losses.
   (iii) Economic development will not keep pace with national movements.
   (iv) No amount of foreign assistance or of natural wealth can ensure successful development and modernization.

(c) Development will be handicapped as long as women remain.....
   (i) second class citizen
   (ii) third class citizen
   (iii) first class citizen
   (iv) fourth class citizen

(d) Disposable income in the hands of women strengthen
   (i) Family bond
   (ii) Nutritional status of the family
   (iii) Spiritual status of the family
   (iv) None of these

(e) What happens to the family size from an educated mother to an illiterate mother?
   (i) Increases in direct proportion
   (ii) Increases in reverse proportion
   (iii) Increases in inverse proportion
   (iv) There is no relation

B. Answer the following questions briefly:

(a) What will be the source of the manpower development during the next quarter century?
(b) During which period is the child growth maximum?
(c) Why can't the first teacher of a child be effective in many parts of the world?
(d) What will happen to development if the womenfolk is neglected?
(e) What is the difference between an educated mother and an illiterate mother?
How can we accelerate the rate of progress?
Find a word in the passage (Para 5) which means ‘Increase’
Find a word in the passage (Para 6) which means ‘Important’

PASSAGE - 3
1. Since its invention a little over 130 years ago, the interview has become a commonplace of journalism. Today, almost everybody who is literate will have read an interview at some point in their lives, while from the other point of view, several thousand celebrities have been interviewed over the years, some of them repeatedly. So it is hardly surprising that opinions of the interview - of its functions, methods and merits - vary considerably. Some might make very extravagant claims for it as being, in its highest form, a source of truth, and, in its practice, an art. Others, usually celebrities who see themselves as its victims, might despise the interview as an unwarranted intrusion into their lives, or feel that it somehow diminishes them, just as in some primitive cultures it is believed that if one takes a photographic portrait of somebody then one is stealing that person's soul.

2. V.S Naipaul feels that some people are ‘wounded by interviews and lose a part of themselves’. Lewis Carroll, the creator of Alice in wonderland, was said to have had 'a just horror of the interviewer' and he never consented to be interviewed- it was his horror of being lionized which made him thus repel would be acquaintances, interviewers, and persistent petitioners for his autograph and he would afterwards relate the stories of his success in silencing all such people with much satisfaction and amusement. Rudyard Kipling expressed an even more condemnatory attitude towards the interviewer. His wife, Caroline, writes in her diary for 14 October 1892 that their day was 'wrecked by two reporters from Boston. She reports her husband as saying to the reporters, "why do I refuse to be interviewed? Because it is immoral! It is a crime, just as much of a crime as much merits punishment. It is cowardly and vile. No respectable man would ask it, much less give it," yet Kipling had himself perpetrated such an 'assault' on Mark Twain only a few years before. H.G Wells in an interview in 1894 referred to 'the interviewing ordeal', but was fairly frequent interviewee and forty years later found himself interviewing Joseph Stallin.

3. Saul Bellow, who has consented to be interviewed on several occasions, nevertheless once described interviews as being like thumbprints on his windpipe. Yet despite the drawbacks of the interview, it is supremely serviceable medium of communication. "These days more than at any other time, our most vivid impressions of our contemporaries are through interviews". Denis Brian has written, "Almost everything of moment reaches us through one man asking questions of another. Because of this, the interviewer holds a position of unprecedented power and influence."

QUESTIONS:
I. On the basis of your understanding of the above passage, answer each of the questions given below by choosing the correct option:
   a) The positive opinion regarding interview is .................
      i. An intrusion
      ii. Source of truth
      iii. Information in complex form
iv. Both first and third
b) Negative opinion on interview is………………
i. An art
ii. Honest information
iii. An ordeal
iv. Development of personality
c) The creator of 'Alice in Wonderland' is …………………
i. G. H. Wells
ii. Kipling
iii. Denis Brian
iv. Lewis Carroll
d) Kipling refused to be interviewed because according to him it is …………………
i. A crime
ii. An assault
iii. Immoral
iv. All the three above.

e) Who interviewed Joseph Stalin?
i. Mark Twain
ii. Rudyard Kipling
iii. H.G. Wells
iv. Saul Bellow

II. Answer the following questions briefly:
(a) What do you understand by 'thumbprints on his wind pipe'?
(b) What are the major view points on people on interviews?
(c) How are the celebrities a victim of interviews?
(d) What is one of the advantages of interviews?
(e) Give two extravagant views / claims about interviews expressed by people.

(f) Find a word in the passage (Para 1) which means ‘lessens the authority, dignity or reputation’.
(g) Find a word in the passage (Para 2) which means ‘refusing to give up’
PASSAGE - 4

Read the following passage carefully

1. As religious people believing in God, we are all aware of the influence of prayer in our individual lives. It is true our temples, gurudwaras, churches and mosques reverberate with the prayers of the devout on festive occasions and even in the course of daily life. When individuals face dire situations, often they are led into prayer; their faith thus opens for them a source of comfort and encouragement in their hour of need.

2. But how does India as collective entity, exercise its faith in prayer? It may be recalled that during the freedom struggle and subsequently after Independence, the Father of the Nation used to lead the people in prayer on matters affecting its destiny. The men of different faiths used to take part in such meetings, which gave them a sense of purpose and also a sense of solidarity as people sharing one destiny.

3. Since the Mahatma fell to the bullets of an assassin, no one else probably came forward to provide leadership to an exercise of prayer at the national level. No doubt, people of all faiths had organized prayers at their places of worship in the aftermath of national tragedies like the Gujarat Earthquake of the Orissa cyclone. The hijacking of an Indian plane with its passengers of Kandahar in the recent past had moved this nation to pray.

   The whole nation again had taken to prayers in mass on two other occasions when Amitabh Bachchan fell seriously on the sick bed.

4. Man's need for prayer is as great as his need for bread. As food is necessary for the body, prayer is necessary for the soul. I have not a shadow of doubt that the strife and quarrels with which our atmosphere is so full today are due to the absence of the spirit of true prayer. True prayer never goes unanswered," wrote Gandhiji. According to Vasudevan, Secretary of the Rajghat Samadhi Samiti, all-religion prayer meetings are held every Friday at Rajghat from 4 p.m. to 5.15 p.m.

5. It is said that the act of prayer changes people and situations. There is a general impression that prayer is an act of seeking favours from God for selfish ends. It is as if all praying people are only interested in taking their shopping lists to their Maker!

   For from it, the very act of praying teaches one to sympathize with those who suffer. It broadens one's vision and outlook. It builds up one's character by imparting a sense of responsibility towards other people and situations.

6. The latest example of a praying nation comes from the United States which is often labelled as too materialistic. Speaking at the national Prayer Breakfast at Washington in the second week of February, President George Bush praised Americans of all faiths for turning to prayer in the wake of the September 11 terrorist attacks. He said he had spent much time 'one bended knee' since terrorists attacked the World Trade Centre and the Pentagon, killing more than 3000 people.
7. Regardless of the religious affiliations, people in the affected areas showed an exemplary sense of togetherness in the hour of tragedy. All differences of religion, ethnicity, race and language were forgotten as volunteers got busy assuaging the pain and sorrow felt by the victims. The American example has several lessons for India which is also a pluralistic society. It has demonstrated that differences of religion and ethnicity need not stand in the way of the nation unitedly facing all its challenges. If it is true that all religious faiths teach tolerance, humility and the value of helping neighbours, then the religious leaders of this nation could also engender unity and oneness of purpose by coming together periodically to pray for the nation. And when they focus on the fact that all people, regardless of their differences share one common destiny, there could be greater communal harmony. Such a consciousness ought to pave the way for peace in society.

1. On the basis of your reading of the passage, answer the following questions by choosing the most appropriate option.

   (1x5=5 marks)

   1. People often pray when they ____________
      (a) Are sick
      (b) Face dreadful situations
      (c) Want their desires to be fulfilled
      (d) Are depressed

   2. What is the general impression about the prayer?
      (a) It provides food to the soul.
      (b) It is an act of seeking favour from God.
      (c) It teaches us to sympathise with those who suffer.
      (d) It imparts in us a sense of responsibility towards other people and situations.

   3. All-religion prayer meetings are held at Rajghat.
      (a) Biweekly
      (b) Weekly
      (c) Monthly
      (d) Annually

   4. Does the writer support the view that ‘all praying people are only interested in taking their shopping lists to their Maker!’
      (a) Yes
      (b) No
      (c) Not sure
      (d) Partially Correct

   5. What should the religious leaders do?
      (a) Coming together to pray for the nation
      (b) Demonstrate the differences of religion
      (c) Only teach tolerance, humility and the value of helping neighbor
(d) They have no duty to the nation

II. Answer the following questions as briefly as possible. (1x7=7 marks)

1. Comment on the importance of the collective prayer organized by the Father of the Nation.

2. On what occasions did the people of all faiths organize prayers at their places of worship?

3. What has the absence of the true prayer resulted in?

4. What lesson does the America example give to India?

5. What do all religious faiths teach?

6. Find a word in the passage (Para 4) which means ‘Killer’

7. Find a word in the passage (Para 4) which means ‘Shown/displayed’
Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow:

(12 marks)

1. Nuclear capability gives a status to the country in the community of nations. No nation can afford to make destructive use of the nuclear energy without risking a World War. That is why America did not make use of nuclear weapon in the Vietnam War though it had become a matter of prestige for her. Similarly Russia preferred to pull out her missile bases from Cuba instead of coming in direct conflict with a nuclear power, America. But India, since she started adopting nuclear technology, had decided to make only peaceful use of nuclear energy. The fear expressed by Pakistan and the comments made in the Chinese press are more for the sake of propaganda than for the projection of truth.

2. India needs nuclear energy in order to meet her power shortage. She has been depending upon hydroelectric power which is undependable because of the uncertainty of rainfall. Good quality of coal which is another source of energy cannot be extracted commercially because it lies very deep and the cost of extraction is very high. India is not producing much of oil, rather she has to import nearly 74 per cent of her total consumption. So the only alternative with India is to have a cheaper and more dependable source of energy. The known reserves of thorium in India are sufficient to last many hundred years. That is why India has already commissioned two nuclear power stations, one at Tarapur and the other at Rana Pratap Sagan. Each one has the installed capacity of producing 420 M.W. of electricity. Two other at Kalpakkam, are operational. This energy will be able to meet the power shortage throughout the country. If industries work at their full capacity, production will be higher and so per capita income will increase and inflation will be neutralized.

3. With the help of controlled nuclear explosions, artificial dams can be made. In fact for building a dam there should be two huge mountain walls enclosing a deep valley just near the course of a river. These conditions are not available at all the places. So with the help of controlled nuclear explosions mountains can be blown up. This can also help in laying roads in the mountainous areas. In fact, some of the borders of India have mountainous terrain and the movement of the army is quite difficult. So even for the sake of national security it is necessary to have roads in those areas.

4. With the help of radiation the shelf life of vegetables and fruits can be increased. In the tropical countries like India, it is necessary that the perishable fruit stuffs are preserved for a long time. Radiation can check the sprouting of onions and potatoes which are much in demand in foreign countries. Similarly fruits like bananas and mangoes which have much export potential can be preserved for a very long time. The texture and taste of the fruit do not undergo any change.

5. Nuclear technology can also be harnessed for medical purposes. It is said that radioactive iodine is used for detecting the disease of the thyroid glands. Similarly, India of U.N. experts, radiated vaccine which can immunize sheep from lungworm disease, which used to take a heavy toll of sheep every year.
6. Properly processed nuclear fuel is also used for artificial satellite in space. Weather satellites can predict cyclones and the rainfall with extreme accuracy. Communication satellites can help in conveying the messages to very long distances. In a huge country like India, communication satellites are necessary.

7. Radiation is also used for preparing the mutant seeds. Many varieties of rice and some cereals have been prepared at Tarapur laboratory. This will increase our agricultural production and help India to become economically better off. So for India it is necessary to make peaceful uses of nuclear energy.

I. On the basis of your reading of the passage, answer the following questions by choosing the most appropriate option.

(1x5=5 marks)

3. Which are more for the sake of propaganda than for the projection of truth
   (a) Fear Expressed by Pakistan about India adopting nuclear technology
   (b) Comments made by the Chinese press about India’s nuclear power.
   (c) Both (a) and (b)
   (d) None of the above

4. Which is not an example of the peaceful use of nuclear technology?
   (a) Preparing the mutant seeds by the use of radiation.
   (b) Making artificial dams by controlled nuclear explosion.
   (c) Use of nuclear power stations to meet the shortage of power.
   (d) Contamination of local water supplies around uranium mines.

5. The texture and taste of the fruit do not undergo any change due to ….
   (a) Curing
   (b) Boiling
   (c) Radiation
(d) Cooling

II. Answer the following questions as briefly as possible. (1x7=7marks)

1. Why does India need nuclear energy?
2. How can radiation be helpful?
3. How does nuclear technology help in the field of medicine?
4. In what way can nuclear energy boost our communication?
5. How can nuclear energy help the country in its economic growth?
6. Find a word in the passage (Para 1) which means ‘withdraw’

PASSAGE-1

Read the passage given below:

The construction of the Leaning Tower of Pisa began in August 1173.
It was interrupted several times by wars, debt and while engineers worked on solutions to correct the lean. We now know that without these interruptions that allowed the soil to compress under the tower, it would have certainly toppled over.
Pisa Tower was eventually completed in the mid-1300s.
The Tower of Pisa is the churches bell tower. The city of Pisa was at the beginning a simple but important Italian seaport. With its growth, so did its religious buildings.
Its fame and power grew gradually over the years, as the people of Pisa were involved in various military conflicts and trade agreements.
The Pisans attacked the city of Palermo on the island of Sicily in 1063. The attack was successful and the conquerors returned to Pisa with a great deal of treasure.
To show the world just how important the city was, the people of Pisa decided to build a great cathedral complex, the Field of Miracles. The plan included a cathedral, a baptistery, a bell tower (the Tower of Pisa) and a cemetery.
The real identity of Tower of Pisa's architects is a mystery.
The most accredited architects of this first phase of work are Bonanno Pisano and Gherardo din Gherardo.
The second phase of construction started in 1275, and the work is attributed to Giovani di Simone. Tommaso Pisano (1350-1372) was the architect who finished the work.
The leaning of the Tower of Pisa comes into the story in 1173, when construction began.
Thanks to the soft ground, it had begun to lean by the time its builders got to the third story, in 1178. Shifting soil had destabilized the tower's foundations.
Over the next 800 years, it became clear the 55-metre tower wasn't just learning but was actually falling at a rate of one to two millimeters per year.
Today, the Leaning Tower of Pisa is more than five meters off perpendicular.
Its architect and engineer tried to correct this by making the remaining stories shorter on the uphill side - but to no avail. It kept leaning more and more.
The lean, first noted when three of the tower's eight stories had been built, resulted from the foundation stones being laid on soft ground consisting of clay, fine sand and shells.
The next stories were built slightly taller on the short side of the tower in an attempt to compensate for the lean. However, the weight of the extra floors caused the edifice to sink further.

(b) Write a summary of the passage above in about 80 Words.

The construction of the Leaning Tower of Pisa began in August 1173 under Bonanno Pisano and Gherardo. Though there were many interruptions but they were proved to be a boon later as it compressed the soft soil beneath the tower. The Tower (belltower) was built to show their importance to the world. The real identity of the architects of this Tower still remains a mystery. While making of the tower architects tried their best to stop it's leaning but all efforts proved to be futile and finally Tommaso Pisano completed it as The Leaning Tower of Pisa.
Read the passage given below:

A difference in opinions, values, attitudes and lifestyle among people of different ages is called 'generation gap'. Due to these differences, people belonging to different generations find themselves unable to relate to each other. This communication gap between successive generations is not a new phenomenon. The fight between the old and the young is not new and has been bound in the culture of every nation of the world. Parents and children across the world have been facing this problem. Due to fast-paced modern lifestyles, parents and children hardly find time together. The children, thus unable to express their thoughts and ideas to their parents, turn to friends for advice who are as inexperienced as they are. In the era of globalization and liberalization, the gap between the young and the old reached its zenith.

Today's children are born into a competitive world and have a struggle to get everything. Many a time their true potential gets overshadowed in the rat race. Parents- burdened by the expectations of the society- end up forcing certain subjects and careers and lives that their parents have chosen for them, children are left lost and confused. Parents, on the other hand, feel that in this rapidly changing society where everyone is so self-centered, it is their duty to protect their children. Parents tend to feel that their children require guidance. This cannot be denied. But their constant monitoring makes children feel oppressed and they tend to turn rebellious.

Thus, generation gap is destroying the basic human relationship and is obviously a threat to the social stability of family relations. It is essential for parents to talk to their children and treat them as individuals. To be forever treated as child can be irritating and sometimes even humiliating. Children, in turn, must reciprocate with due respect and attention. Matters such as career, lifestyle and sensitive issues like freedom of choice of friends must be dealt with carefully and with maturity. Love and understanding are the best antidotes to this ever-widening generation gap. Only then will children look up to their parents and parents will not be burdened with their guilt of not being there for their children in their hour of need. In this way generation gap can at least be narrowed, if not completely filled.

Read the passage given below:

'Thoda' is a martial art form of Himachal Pradesh, India, relying on one's talent with the bow and arrow. The name 'Thoda' is derived from the round piece of wood fixed to the head of the arrow. Its history is traced back to the days of Mahabharata when bows and arrows were used in the epic battles between the Pandavas and the Kauravas while residing in the beautiful valleys of Kulu and Manali. Thus, this martial art has its origins in Kulu. The equipment required for this game are bows and arrows.

In Himachal Pradesh, in the olden days, the game of Thoda was organized in a very interesting way. A handful of village folks would go to another village and throw three leaves into the village well before sunrise. They would then hide in the bushes nearby, just outside the village. As soon as the villagers came to draw water the youths would shout and challenge them for a fight.

Held on Baisakhi Day, the competition is a mixture of martial art, cultural event and sport. Community prayers are organized to invoke the blessings of the Gods. The archers are divided into teams called Saathi and Pashi. The archers in this game have to aim at the leg region, below the knee.

On reaching the village fairground, both the teams dance on either side of the ground. Both the opponents face each other at a distance of about 10 meters and prepare to attack. Very quick and easy movements are the only method of defence. The whole competition is conducted to the lively rhythm of war dance with one side furiously sidestepping, legs kicking in all directions, and the other side doing its best to place an arrow on the target. There are minus points for a strike on the wrong parts of the leg.

Presently, the game is played in a marked court, which ensures that a certain degree of discipline is maintained in Thoda - a happy blend of culture and sport.

Read the passage given below:

My Dear Little Fellow,

You are now going to settle at school, and may consider this as your first entrance into the world. As my health is so indifferent, and I may not be with you long, I wish to leave you some advice (the best I can) for your conduct in life, both that it may be of use to you, and as something to remember me by. I may at least be able to caution you against my own errors, if nothing else.

As we went along to your new place of destination, you often repeated that "you durst say they were a set of stupid, disagreeable people, "meaning the people at the school. You were to blame in this. It is a good old rule to hope for the best. Always, my dear, believe things to be right, till you find them the contrary; and even then, instead of irritating yourself against them, endeavour to put up with them as well as you can, if you cannot alter them. You said, "You were sure you should not like the school where you were going." This was wrong. What you meant was that you did not like to leave home. But you could not tell whether you should like the school or not, till you had given it a trial. Otherwise your saying that you should not like it was determining that you would not like it. Never anticipate evils, or, because you cannot have everything exactly as you wish, make them out worse than they are, through more spite and willfulness.

You seemed at first to take no notice of your school-fellows, or rather to set yourself against them, because they were strangers to you. They knew as little of you as you did of them; so that this would have been a reason for their keeping aloof from you as well, which you would have felt as a hardship. Learn never to conceive a prejudice against others, because you know nothing of them. It is bad reasoning, and makes enemies of half the world. Do not think ill of them, till they behave ill to you; and then strive to avoid the faults which you see in them. This will disarm their hostility sooner than pique or resentment or complaint.

I thought you were disposed to criticize the dress of some of the boys as not so good as your own. Never despise any one for anything that he cannot help -- least of all, for his poverty. I would wish you to keep up appearances yourself as a defence against the idle sneers of the world, but I would not have you value yourself upon them. I hope you will neither be the dupe nor victim of vulgar prejudices. Instead of saying above -- "Never despise any one for anything that he cannot help" -- I might have said, "Never despise any one at all"; for contempt implies a triumph over and pleasure in the ill of another. It means that you are glad and congratulate yourself on their failings or misfortunes. The sense of inferiority in others, without this indirect appeal to our self-love, is a painful feeling, and not an exulting one.

1. In a very short period of time, the internet has had a profound impact on the way we live. Since the internet was made operational in 1983, it has lowered both the costs of communication and the barriers to creative expression. It has challenged old business models and enabled new ones. It has provided access to information on a scale never before achievable.

2. It succeeded because we designed it to be flexible and open. These two features have allowed it to accommodate innovation without massive changes to its infrastructure. An open, borderless and standardized platform means that barriers to entry are low, competition is high, interoperability is assured and innovation is rapid. The beauty of an open platform is that there are no gatekeepers. For centuries, access to and creation of information was controlled by the few. The internet has changed that and is rapidly becoming the platform for everyone, by everyone.

3. Of course, it still has a way to go. Today there are only about 2.3 billion internet users, representing roughly 30% of the world's population. Much of the information that they can access online is in English, but this is changing rapidly. The technological progress of the internet has also set social change in motion. As with other enabling inventions before it, from the telegraph to television, some will worry about the effects of broader access to information-the printing press and the rise in literacy that it affected were, after all, long seen as destabilising. Similar concerns about the internet are occasionally raised, but if we take a long view, I'm confident that its benefits far outweigh the discomforts of learning to integrate it into our lives. The internet and the world wide web are what they are because literally, millions of people have made it so. It is a grand collaboration.

4. It would be foolish not to acknowledge that the openness of the internet has had a price. Security is an increasingly important issue and cannot be ignored. If there is an area of vital research and development for the internet, this is one of them. I am increasingly confident, however, that techniques and practices exist to make the internet safer and more secure while retaining its essentially open quality.

5. After working on the internet and its predecessors for over decades, I'm more optimistic about its promise than I have ever been. We are all free to innovate on the net every day.
The internet is tool of the people, built by the people and it must stay that way.

FORMAL INVITATIONS AND REPLIES

Invitations are extended to relatives, friends, acquaintances and clients on a number of social occasions like marriages, births, engagements, deaths or other public functions.

Invitations are of two types. - 1) Formal Invitations 2) Informal Invitation

While formal invitations are sent for the above mentioned occasions, many people also send a handwritten informal invitation beforehand to make these occasions more personal, cordial and intimate as is appropriate to their relationship.

Replying to invitations is essential. It is an essential courtesy to the host who has extended an invitation and also helps the host know how many guests will arrive so that he she may make arrangements accordingly.

Like the invitations, replies to invitations also may be:-

• formal replies
• Informal replies

Formal Invitations:-

Formal invitations are sent in official capacity for public functions except in the case of Marriage/Anniversaries.

• A simple yet elegant printed card is preferred.
• Invitations are written in the third person.
  Example:- Mr. and Mrs. S Surendran request the pleasure of the company of Mr. and Mrs. Rajkumar..............
• Note that the English etiquette requires the husband's name to be written first.
  Example:- Mr and Mrs G Joseph
• Avoid use of abbreviations for the names of guests, days, dates. However, the abbreviations RSVP. (Respondez s'il vous plait) which means 'Please Reply' is put at the bottom.
• The subject matter is written in the centre setting. Details like address, dress code or any other instructions are written at the bottom to the left or the right as per choice or convenience.

Important Points

The invitation is laid out so that each of the following is in a separate line:

• the name(s) of the host (s) issuing the invitation
• the standard expression 'request the pleasure of the company of ............'
• the reason for the invitation.
• the time and date of the event.
• the venue of event
• In case a VIP is to be invited (at an official function), his/her name appears prominently
• In case of Printed cards, the name of the invitee may not figure in the invitation.
• The date of issuing the invitation is not mentioned.
• No punctuation is required at the end of a line.
• The simple present tense is used.
Example:-

Your school is organizing the Annual Day next month in one of the prestigious auditoriums of your city. Draft an invitation in not more than 50 words giving all the essential details. Do not forget to include necessary instructions against mobile phones and cameras.

Chandigarh

20 September 2015

Geeta Sahni

Thanks Ms Neha Rawat, President of the English Literacy and Debating Society to preside over the inter school declamation competition to be held on 5 October 2015 at 10.00 am.

She is delighted to accept the invitation. It will be kind of you if she is provided with transport for the occasion.

Informal Invitation

Informal invitations are sent for personal occasions.

Important points

The main characteristics of an informal invitation are:-

- It is written in the first person (I/We)
- The sender's address is written as usual but the receiver's address is not mentioned.
- The date of writing the invitation is given but there is no need to write the year.
- The salutation is 'Dear + name'.
- The complimentary close is 'Yours Sincerely'.
- Various tenses of the verb are used unlike the formal invitation.
- The Invitation does not ask for a reply as in the formal invitation. However, it is polite to reply to the invitation.
- The vocabulary is less formal.
Example
Mr and Mrs G Joseph of 27, The Apple Tree Orchard, Kottayam have decided to have a party on the occasion of twenty-first birthday of their son, Vineet. Write the invitation giving details of the date, time and venue. Do not exceed 50 words.

Write a formal invitation in about 50 words requesting him to grace the occasion. You are Karuna/Karan, Sports Secretary, Sunrise Global School, Agra.

2. You are Ankit Verma. Your friend from Malaysia is in the hostel. Invite him to join Diwali Celebrations with you at your residence.

3. Your parents have completed 25 years of happy married life. Invite your aunt, living in Hyderabad, to join you in the Silver Jubilee celebration of their marriage at your residence.

4. You are Navin/Neha, the Secretary of the Youth Club of your Locality. You are organizing an inter-school group song competition. Invite a prominent musician to act as one of the judges.

5. You are Manoj. You are going on a picnic with a group of your classmates to Karna lake, near Karnal. Write an informal invitation to your friend Mohit to join you on that day.
FORMAL LETTERS

Formal Letters have a variety of purposes. Formal Letters are written to:

- Ask for/give information
- Apply for a job
- Make inquiries
- Register complaints about inadequate goods or services
- Place orders/send appropriate replies
- Apologize for behaviour
- Solicit new customers for grievances
- Persuade others
- Make an appeal for help
- Send a recommendation

However, all of these letters have a common goal, which is to get the results you want from someone you may or may not know personally.

IMPORTANT POINTS

- The formal letter is written in formal language. Try to avoid starting with 'I'. Keep sentence short and to the point. Do not use contractions.
- End with a short sentence that anticipates the response of the addressee.
- The tone in formal letter is polite and impersonal.
- Use passive voice where possible.
- Be brief and to the point; do not beat about the bush.
- Be clear and specific; state the purpose clearly and concisely.
- Be positive and polite even if you are writing a complaint. Remember on the receiving end of your letter is a human being!

BUSINESS LETTERS

These include:

(i) Letters of enquiry/asking for information
(ii) Replying to enquiry/giving information
(iii) Placing orders and sending replies
(iv) Cancelling orders

A business letter is the basic means of communication between two companies. It is a document typically sent externally to those outside a company, but is also sent internally to those within a company.

A business letter should be written whenever you need a permanent record that you have sent the information requested for, because business letters are generally sent to other professionals. A formal salutation and closing must be added.
They are different from personal letters in form, tone and content. Most business letters have a formal tone as opposed to the informal, friendly or personal tone, content and style of the personal letter. The treatment of the subject has to be simple, systematic and formal.

IMPORTANT POINTS

- begin by identifying yourself
- clearly state the purpose of writing
- give relevant details
- make a request for appropriate action
- be positive and polite - even if you are making a complaint
- use polite language and a pleasant tone
- Quote reference numbers, order number, cheque/demand draft number, file numbers, etc.
- convey message briefly and in a straightforward manner

Official Letters

These include:

i. Letters of complaint
ii. Making inquiries
iii. Making requests/appeals

Official letters are written to various public or civil servants who generally head their respective departments, sections, branches or zones.

Important points

- Show due respect but do not flatter or sound too servile
- Clearly state the purpose of writing
- Use polite language and a pleasant tone

Letters to the Editors

These letters give suggestions/create awareness on an issue of public interest or an issue already raised in an article/write-up/published letter.

Important Points

- Begin with reference to the recent development/event/issue
- Give details of the topic bringing out cause-effect relationship
- Offer suggestions/solutions
- Do not ask the editor to solve the problem as he can only voice your views and ideas.

Job Applications

These types of letters demand a very formal and precise treatment. Their format is almost the same as that of the forwarding cover letter and is usually accompanied by a curriculum vitae/ resume. The curriculum vitae/resume ought to include the name, address, name, date of birth, educational qualifications, experience, hobbies, expected salary and signature.
EXAMPLE
Letter of complaint

Neera Singh is the secretary of Army Apartments C G road, Sagar. The complex subscribes to New Cable Services M G road Sagar. The proprietor Mr. Singh has increased the monthly subscription, but he has done nothing to improve the quality of transmission. The sound is low and unclear, the colours blurred, and the selection of channels limited. She writes a letter complaining about the same.

<td>I write this letter on behalf of around 350 cable subscribers belonging to Army Apartments, C G Road Sagar. They are very dissatisfied with your services. The association has previously complained of low volume of sound, blurred images and distortion of colours which have not been addressed so far. And now the unreasonable increase in monthly subscription without corresponding improvement in transmission is causing dissatisfaction among the residents. The complaints to the cable operator posted in the colony has fallen on deaf ears. In spite of paying full subscription the residents have access to only limited channels. Kindly take note of the complaints, otherwise the society will be forced to adhere to the members’ demand to cancel the subscription.</td>

SOLVED QUESTION

Q1. Over the past few years there has been constant rise in Coaching Institutes and private tuition centers all over India. Write an article in about 150-200 words highlighting the exploitation of young minds that seek sincere counselling and proper direction. You are Mahesh/Mita a student of class XII of Indira Public school, Gwalior.

Coaching institutes Exploit Students

By Mita, ClassXII

Coaching institutes have mushroomed in every nook and corner of a city over the past few years. These so called" temples of learning" are exploiting the young minds just for their financial gains. The misleading advertisements given by these Institutes act as magnets to attract the innocent, inexperienced students, who are seeking sincere counselling and proper direction.
Most private tuition centers and coaching institutes treat students just as commodities, instead of providing them proper direction in their scholarly pursuits and giving them individual attention, they leave them to their fate. The counsellor who is appointed to these institutes is assigned the task of filling the unpopular coaching programmes with more students so that the institution can maximize its profits, irrespective of whether that particular programme suits the student or not.

These Coaching Institutions take advantage of the ignorance of the illiterate Parents by advising them to enroll their weak child in a "crash" course whereas he needs to join the long term coaching programme for being successful in life. The sole purpose of these institutions is to fill their coffers with money, not to look into the well-being of these students, who are the future assets of the nation. These institutions are like the "termites" making the nation's future hollow. The Education Department of the Government should be vigilant and stop these Coaching Institutes from exploiting the innocent students. Stringent laws should be enforced to stop these institutes from spreading their tentacles in the society. The guilty who are playing with the future of the students should be brought to task.

The purpose of making a debate/ speech is to convey information orally to a large gathering of people strongly and convincingly.

FORMAT Includes the topic (For/Against) SALUTATION, greeting the chief guest and fellow speakers or listeners.
- Begin with "Honourable Chairperson, judges, teachers and my dear friends, I stand before you to express my views for/against the motion on the topic……..."

CONTENT: Express your views about the topic.
- Compare, contrast and sum up highlighting your viewpoint.
- Use LANGUAGE that is persuasive and powerful using the expressions like - I vehemently disapprove of, I strongly feel, in my opinion, may I ask…..etc.

SPEECH: must reflect CLARITY of thought, accuracy of facts and balanced view.
At the end write "THANK YOU".
Follow the word limit.

Solved example (DEBATE):
BRAIN DRAIN IS NOT ABANE FOR DEVELOPING COUNTY LIKE INDIA (AGAINST)
Honorable Judges, my worthy opponents and dear students,
Today I, Abha of class XII, will speak against the motion, "Brain drain is not bane for a developing country like India."
I would like to draw the attention of my worthy opponents to the fact that India is a developing nation and a lot of money is spent on the education and paid as subsidies to the students of Engineering and Medical but it is ironical that these students after completion of their studies instead of serving their Motherland go away to foreign countries to earn more money. This is indeed a great national loss because the expense incurred on their education comes from the taxes submitted by the common people. The present statistical data reveals the fact the number of students leaving the country and going abroad has nearly doubled. I'm sure and confident that my honorable opponents will do some souls searching!
Those in favour of the motion have highlighted the view that brain drain has brought prestige to the Nation, I strongly disagree, in my opinion brain drain is a great loss of talent of our Nation. Had these talented Engineers Doctors stayed behind the people of our Motherland would have benefitted immensely, the day would not be far when she would once again be called the "Golden Bird".
The drifting away of the intelligent people has left our country poor and benefitted another country.
To conclude I would once again firmly say that Brain drain is a bane for a developing country like India.

SOLVED EXAMPLE-SPEECH:
Q1.Write a speech in 150-200 words on the topic. "Discipline shapes the future of a student."
"It is to be delivered in the morning assembly. You are Karuna/Karan."
Respected Principal, teachers, and dear friends,

Today I, Karuna, am here to express my views on, "Discipline shapes the future of a student."

We are all aware of the fact that Discipline is the key to success. Discipline should be inculcated early in life. If we are disciplined in life we inculcate a sense of duty and obedience. Let me give you an example to prove my point, every day we are assigned homework by our teachers, if we are disciplined we complete the work within the stipulated time we get the appreciation of our teachers and also do well in the examinations.

Discipline is essential in all walks of life. Right from the working of the Government of the country to the ordinary farmer who tills his field all follow discipline. Absence of it leads to chaos and confusion. Imagine a day on the road when people do not follow the traffic rules. Can you imagine the utter chaos it will lead to! So Discipline is essential in running the society smoothly.

A person can reach the pinnacles of glory by following discipline. It acts as a restraint and at the same time builds self-confidence. Moreover it balances the personality of a person and inculcates good work ethics.

CREATIVE WRITING WORKSHOP

Radha

Scholastic India Ltd. conducted a one day workshop in KV........ as part of their campaign to promote creative writing on 20th September’19 in the school library for the student of class XI-XII.

The Team of scholastic India Ltd. was given a cordial welcome by the school coordinator Ms J Sharma. Mr. Rahul and Ms Deepshikha of the team conducted the session. They took the students through the mechanics of writing and explained how the use of figurative language can improve their writing. The students were grouped into a team of 5 each and were given some clues and were asked to write a story in the stipulated time. The teams were expected to present their stories one by one. It was interesting to note the same clues getting developed to different stories.

The next session was mainly for the budding poets. Mrs Rima Roy, the famous poet took the next session. She highlighted the finer details of writing poetry. The students were then asked to compose poems. Rohit of class XII got a lot of appreciation for his poem. The stories and poems were all put on the library board for others to read.

The workshop came to an end with the address of the Principal Mr. Rajendran K... He expressed the need for developing effective writing skills for good communication. Master Anson, the Head boy proposed a vote of thanks for the organizers.

SHORT ANSWER QUESTIONS:-

Distribution of marks:
Content: 1 mark
Expression: 1 mark (deduct ½ a mark for two or more grammatical/spelling mistakes.)

1. Why did Franz think of running away from the school that morning?

Ans. Franz started late for school because he had no mind to go. In addition to this, his teacher, M. Hamel had asked Franz to question him on "Participles". Franz did not know even the first word about them. So he feared scolding from his teacher. For a moment he thought of running away and spending the day out of doors. He wanted to enjoy the bright day, the chirping of the birds and the drill of the Prussian soldiers. He was tempted to run away from school.

2. What did the French teacher tell his students in his last French lesson? What impact did it have on them?

Ans. Hints- the last lesson-a thunderclap
   - order from Berlin
   - the new teacher coming tomorrow
   - children attentive

   - all the students and their teacher upset

4. How did Franz react to the declaration that it was his last French lesson?

Ans. Hints- Franz shocked
   - sorry for not learning his lessons
   - feelings for subject and teacher changed
   - books not a nuisance, but old friends

5. What was the impact of the last lesson in grammar over Franz? How did he feel?

Ans. Hints- grammar seemed to be easy
   - listened attentively
   - teacher taught dedicatedly

LONG ANSWER QUESTIONS:-

1. Franz’s attitude towards school as well towards M. Hamel changes when he comes to know about the takeover of his village by Prussians. Discuss with reference to the Last Lesson.

Ans. On arriving at school, Franz noted an unusual silence. His teacher M. Hamel was dressed nicely and asked Franz to sit so that he could start his lesson. The teacher made a startling announcement that this would be their last lesson in French as the new teacher would be arriving the following day. He reiterated about an order from Berlin that German was to be taught in schools of Alsace and Lorraine. Franz was overcome with a feeling of remorse and regretted wasting his time in trivial pursuits. He decided to pay attention to the lesson since school had become very important for him. He began to realize the real worth of his school as well as of the teacher whom they had all taken for granted all these years. Now M. Hamel became a good teacher for him rather than a boring one. For him, the teacher seemed to be a good gentleman who was leaving the village on that day. Thus, there developed a specific liking to study history and grammar in Franz since on that day M. Hamel put all his heart and soul in teaching.

2. The day of the Last Lesson was full of regret and sadness. Describe the events of the day in the classroom in the light of above remark.

Ans. Hints- Alsace and Lorraine taken over by the Prussians
- directive from Berlin to teach German in schools
- the people shocked at the news
- remorse expression on the missed classes by M. Hamel
- his reproach on the elders attitude
- stress on the importance of French language and keeping it alive
- the last lesson made memorable by M. Hamel

3. What did the French teacher tell his students in his last French lesson? What impact did it have on them?

Ans. Hints
- French language most beautiful, clearest and logical language
  - people must guard it and keep it alive
  - their language would be like a key to their freedom
  - village elders became emotional and repentant
  - they became respectful for their language and it's teacher

4. Why did Franz start very late that morning for school? How did he resist his momentary thoughts of running away and spend the day outdoors?

Ans. Hints- Franz dreaded grammar lesson and scolding from the teacher
- pleasant and warm morning
- birds chirping outside
- drill of the Prussian soldiers
- resisted the temptation because of his virtues

5. How does the presence of village elders in the classroom and M. Hamel's last Lesson show their love for French Language?

Ans. Hints- old men of the village sitting quietly at the back of classroom
- sad as well as sorry for not having gone to school more often.
came to thank master for forty years of faithful service and to show respect for a country that was theirs no more
- regretted neglecting their language
- M. Hamel explained everything patiently
- appealed to people to preserve 'French'
- holding on to their language will keep them united
- spoke about beauty of French language
- was overwhelmed with emotions
- Wrote Vive La France on the board in spite of Prussian soldiers marching outside

LONG-ANSWER TYPE QUESTIONS

Q1. Why was Gandhi summoned to appear in the court? How did civil disobedience triumph for the first time in India?

Ans. Gandhi had reached Motihari, the capital of Champaran, to study the problems of the sharecropper peasants. He was on his way to a neighbouring village, where a peasant was ill-treated. On the way, he was stopped by the police superintendent's messenger and ordered to return to town. When he reached home, he was served with an official notice to quit Champaran at once. Gandhi wrote on the receipt that he would disobey the order. So Gandhi received a summon to appear in the court the next day.

Next morning the town of Motihari was black with peasants. Thousands of peasants demonstrated voluntarily outside the court. The prosecutor requested the judge to postpone the trial. Gandhi protested against the delay. He read out the statement pleading guilty. He asked the penalty. The judge announced that he would pronounce the sentence after a two-hour recess. He asked Gandhi to furnish bail for that period. Gandhi refused. The judge released him without bail. After the recess, the judge said that he would not deliver the judgment for several days. Meanwhile he allowed Gandhi to remain at liberty.

Several days later Gandhi received a letter. The case against him had been dropped. Thus, civil disobedience had triumphed, for the first time in India.

Q2. How did Gandhi work for rural upliftment during his stay in Champaran?

Hint- Gandhi ji appealed for teachers and doctors Primary schools were opened
Mrs Kasturba Gandhi and several other volunteers helped - Narhari Parikh, Mahadev Desai, Devdas (Youngest son of Gandhi) personal and community cleanliness stressed

Theme
An account of the events and personalities in a film company in the early days of Indian cinema.

Sub-Theme
Poets and writers in a film company environment.

Main Points
- The Gemini studio was located in Madras (Chennai)
- The writer recounts his years in the company
- The make-up department was in the upstairs of a building that was believed to have been Robert Clive’s stables.
- Pancake was the brand name of the make-up material used by the artists in Gemini studios.
- The make-up room had the look of a hair-cutting salon with incandescent lights at all angles around half a dozen large mirrors, writer speaks about the ‘fiery misery’ ‘of those subjected to make-up.
- There was a great deal of ‘national integration’ in the department and a strict hierarchy was maintained there.
- The players who played the crowd were the responsibility of the ‘office boy’ in his early forties, a frustrated person, who turned all his anger towards Kothamanagalam Subbu.
- The author’s job was to cut out newspaper clippings and store them in files.
- Most people including the ‘boy’ thought author was doing ‘next to nothing’.
- S SVasan (editor of Tamil weekly Ananada Vikatan’) was the owner of the studios. Subbu was No.2.
- Subbu -a Brahmin ,had the ability to look cheerful at all times ,could be ‘inspired when commanded’, was tailor-made for films, had a separate identity as a poet and actor, had genuine love for others , was charitable, always seen with The Boss, attached to Story Department.
- Story Department—assembly of poets and writers, wore khadi
A lawyer (legal adviser) - referred to as ‘the opposite’ - caused the end of a brief and brilliant career of a talented actress, looked ‘alone and helpless’, man of cold logic in a crowd of dreamers, close to the Boss, wore pants, coat and a tie, attached to Story Department, lost his job when the Story Department was closed down.

Gemini studios – favourite haunt of poets, excellent mess which supplied good coffee, Congress rule meant prohibition, almost everyone radiated leisure, wore Khadi and worshipped Gandhi, averse to Communism.

Visit of MRA (a kind of counter movement to international Communism) in 1952 - presented two plays ‘The Forgotten Factor’ and ‘Jotham Valley’ in a professional manner, impressed Madras and Tamil drama community.

Another visitor - a poet from England, tall man, very English, addressed ‘a more dazed and silent audience’, visit remained an unexplained mystery, staff did not know whether he was a poet or an editor.

Author’s conviction about prose-writers – ‘prose writing is for the patient, persistent, persevering drudge’, short story contest by a British periodical ‘The Encounter’ - found in the British Council Library almost ‘untouched by readers’, discovered Stephen Spender was the editor.

Author bought ‘The God That Failed’ years later – six essays describing the disillusionment of six eminent men of letters with Communism, Stephen Spender one among them, author suddenly realized the relevance of his visit to Gemini studios.

Short Answer Questions

1. What does the writer mean by ‘the fiery misery’ of those subjected to make-up’?

The make-up room of Gemini Studios looked like a hair cutting salon. It had around half a dozen mirrors with incandescent lights at all angles around them. The artists would feel the heat emanating from these lights. Thus, the writer uses the term ‘fiery misery’ to denote the uncomfortable situation of those subjected to make-up.

2. What is the example of national integration that the author refers to?

The make-up division of the Gemini Studios was an example of national integration. According to the author, this is so because people from different regions and religious groups worked together in the same department. The department was headed by a Bengali who was succeeded by a Maharashtrian. The other helpers included a Dharwar Kannadiga, an Andhra, a Madras Indian Christian, an Anglo-Burmese and the local Tamils.
3. Why was the office boy frustrated? Who did he show his anger on?

The office boy had joined the studio years ago in the hope of becoming an actor or a screenwriter, or a director, or a lyricist. The fact that he ended up becoming none of these left him frustrated. According to him, “great literary talent was being allowed to go waste in a department fit only for barbers and perverts”. He used to direct his anger at the author even though it was meant for Kothamangalam Subbu.

4. Subbu is described as a many-sided genius. List four of his special abilities.

Subbu was a multi-disciplinarian. He could provide solutions to problems and remain cheerful all the time. He was an actor, a poet and a novelist.

5. Did the people at Gemini Studios have any particular political affiliations?

The people at Gemini Studios did not have any particular political affiliations. The common political notions of the day managed to influence them but that was limited to wearing Khadi and admiring the Gandhian philosophy. They were averse to the term ‘Communism’ but had only an erroneous understanding of the concept.

6. Why was the Moral Re-Armament army welcomed at the studio?

Frank Buchman’s Moral Re-Armament army was welcomed at the studio mainly because of their political association. The people at the Gemini Studios were averse to Communism, and hence, were ready to play host to the MRA. Apart from that, the studio people hardly had any occupation and suffered from boredom. The MRA came as a welcome change to their monotonous days at the studio.

LONG ANSWER QUESTIONS

1. How does the author describe the incongruity of an English poet addressing the audience at Gemini Studios?

The audience at the Gemini studios was not knowledgeable enough to understand the thrills and travails of an English poet, of which the visitor poet-editor talked about, in his speech. The studio made films for simple people whose limited resources did not provide them with an opportunity to develop a taste in English poetry. The audience failed to understand anything the poet said, all the more, because of the latter’s accent. The poet-editor, in turn, looked baffled realizing the utter inappropriateness of his speech being directed to such an audience.
2. What do you understand about the author’s literary inclinations from the account?

Though the author had a very tedious and unchallenging job at the studios, his interest in literature and writing is apparent in his willingness to participate in the short story contest organized by the British periodical, ‘The Encounter’. Moreover, the author appears to be a keen reader visiting libraries and buying books on wide-ranging topics whenever he could afford them. The narrative also establishes the fact that the author was one of the most knowledgeable persons in Gemini Studios. His idea about how prose writing was not meant for geniuses but for those with patience and perseverance, highlights his deep thoughts on literature and creative writing.

SHORT ANSWER QUESTIONS

1. What are some of the positive views on interviews?
Interview, in the 130 years of its existence, has become an inherent part of journalism. It is a useful means of communication that is, at times, considered to be an art, serving as a source of truth. Denis Brian has stated that in today’s world we get to know “our contemporaries” through their interviews.

2. Why do most celebrity writers despise being interviewed?

Celebrity writers believe that interviews unduly interfere in their private lives. They regard themselves as victims of interviews. They claim that the interview in some way ‘diminishes’ them, just like some ancient cultures believed that a portrait of a person takes away his soul. Certain celebrities like V.S Naipaul have claimed that interviews leave them wounded, while others like Rudyard Kipling have referred to it as a crime and an immoral act.

3. What is the belief in some primitive cultures about being photographed?

Some primitive cultures believed that getting oneself photographed would rob them of their souls.

4. What do you understand by the expression “thumbprints on his windpipe”?

“Thumbprints on his windpipe” means to choke or suffocate somebody by applying pressure on his throat. Saul Bellow uses this expression to refer to the pressure and discomfort felt by a celebrity while giving an interview.

5. Who, in today’s world, is our chief source of information about personalities?

Interviews help us know our contemporaries and their opinions. They serve as a means of communication between the celebrities and the audience. In this case, the interviewer is endowed with a very special power and he becomes our chief source of information about personalities.

6 Do you think Umberto Eco likes being interviewed? Give reasons for your opinion.
Yes, Umberto Eco, in all possibilities, likes being interviewed. He readily answers every question asked by Mukund Padmanabhan in an energetic and lively manner. He does not seem apprehensive about sharing his secrets, experiences and opinions with the interviewer, and consequently, the world. There is no indication throughout the interview that he dislikes being interviewed.

How does Eco find the time to write so much?

Whenever Eco has a few moments to spare in between two different tasks, instead of wasting them, he uses the time to write. Eco explains that just like the universe has empty spaces, our lives too, have a lot of empty spaces or ‘interstices’, as he calls them. He even gives an example of his working technique. He says that while waiting for someone to come up the elevator he keeps himself busy.

What was distinctive about Eco’s academic writing style?

Eco’s writing style is strikingly different from that of the standard academic mode. The academicians first make a thorough research, then move on to prove their hypotheses, and finally, give their conclusion on that subject. The final outcome, therefore, comes out as tedious. Eco, on the other hand, tells the story of his research, including his “trials and errors”. While the scholars usually use a very depersonalised and dull manner, Eco’s style is personalised and playful, and in the form of a narrative.

POETRY SECTION
MY MOTHER AT SIXTY SIX

- By Kamla Das

THEME: The poem "My Mother at Sixty-six" examines the themes of:
(i) Advancing age
(ii) The fear of loss & separation.

MAIN POINTS TO REMEMBER:
1. The poet was travelling in a car along with her mother to the Cochin airport.
2. She compares the ashen face of her mother to a dead body; suddenly realizes that her mother has grown old & will finally die leaving her alone in this world.
3. This thought is painful to her so to divert her mind she looks out of the window of the car.
4. She sees the young trees running & the happy children coming out of their homes.
5. They are representatives of youth, energy, life & are in contrast to the pale worn out face of her mother who is sleeping beside her.
6. The dull face of her mother reminds her of the late winter's moon & troubles her once again of losing her mother.
7. At last she says good bye to her mother with a smile & without disclosing her feelings and fear of separation.

Figures of Speech used:
*SIMILE-: her face ashen like that of a corpse, as a late winter's moon.
*REPETITION-: smile and smile and smile
*CONTRAST-: Old mother in the car has been contrasted with the young trees running and happy children coming out of their homes to the sadness of the poet on realizing the advancing age of her mother.

AN ELEMENTARY SCHOOL CLASSROOM IN A SLUM

- By Stephen Spender

THEME: Social injustice and class inequalities

Main Points

Stanza-1
(1) The poem portrays a picture of an elementary school in a slum area
(2) Deprived of basic facilities such as nutritional food, balanced diet, air, sun. shine and potable water, children are least interested in studies
(3) The tall girl and paper seeming boy—all are victims of malnutrition; they are suffering from various diseases
(4) A boy sitting at the back is dreaming of squirrel's game. He has no interest in class-room activity.

Stanza-2
(1) The class-room wall contains pictures and paintings -like Shakespeare's head developed cities with skyscrapers Tyrolese valley aesthetically beautiful, problem free world (cloudless at down)-they came by donations.
(2) These pictures belong to the world of the rich and prosperous.
(3) The world of these poor and deprived children contrasts with the world depicted on class-room walls.
(4) The rich have drawn an open handed map which is of no use to them as their world is limited to the end of the street.
(5) Far from rivers, capes and stars of words, their future is bleak and uncertain

Stanza-3
(1) Shakespeare is wicked and map a bad example as they do not correspond to their limited, narrow world.
(2) Ships and Sun depicted on the wall tempt them to experience the world of the rich with all its glory.
(3) However, they can not get this opportunity as the responsible people do not want it.
(4) These malnourished children wearing mended glasses oscillate between fog and endless night, having uncertain life with no future.
(5) They pass all their time and space in the hell (the slum). This hell is a blot on the civilised world.

Stanza-4
(1) The poet calls upon governor, inspector and visitor (representing power and position) to review the system before it is too late.
(2) The revised system should empower these children to break away from the shakles of poverty and deprevation.
(3) He urges the civilised people to help them enjoy all the facilities such as blue-sky, sunshine, sea-waves, fresh air, good and sufficient nutritious diet.

(4) Let the pages of wisdom be open for them and their tongues may run freely on the white leaves of books.

(5) Only those people find a place in history whose language has the warmth and power of the sun.

Major features:

1- Poetic device: Simile-
   Like rootless weeds
   Like bottle bits on stones
   Like catacombs
   Slums as big as doom

Metaphors
   Rat's eyes, gnarled disease, Paper Seeming boy
   Squiriel's game
   White and green leaves etc.

Alliteration
   Far far from gusty waves
   Surely Shakespeare
   Bottle-bits

2- Imagery /Symbols
   (i) Gusty waves
   (ii) Rootless weeds
   (iii) Paper-seeming boy
   (iv) Sour-cream walls

Extract-1
   On Sour cream walls, donations, Shakespeare's head.
   Cloudless at down, civilized dome riding all cities
   Belled, flowery, Tyrolese valley. Open handed map

(ii) Why is the map 'open handed'?
(iii) Explain the line-'Awarding the world its world'?
(iv) How is the sky at dawn?
Ans (i) Class-room walls in a slum area are mentioned in the first line
(ii) It is drawn at will irrespective of realities.
(iii) The luxurious world of the rich is imposed upon the poor unjustifiably
(iv) It is clear and cloudless

Explain the Last line of the poem
'History theirs whose language is the sun'

Explanation: History belongs to those who speak the language of the sun—meaning Power, energy, caliber, radiance and strength.

Extract-2

Unless governor, inspector, visitor,
This map becomes their window and these windows
That shut upon their lives like catacombs,
Break o break open till they break the town

Q.1 Who are called upon by the poet in the first line?
Q.2 What does the poet want them to do?
Q.3 What is the poetic device used in the third line?
Q.4 Explain, "Break ....................... town"?

Ans(1) Value Points
Governor, inspector, visitor, all those in power

Ans(2) To help the slum-dwellers lead respectable life with all the facilities.

Ans(3) Simile like ‘catacombs’

Ans(4) The education system should empower and liberate the children from the shackles and boundaries imposed by the rich and powerful.

Short Answer Questions.

(1) Why is Shakespeare wicked?
(2) Describe, in brief, the conditions surrounding these slum children?
(3) Present the two worlds depicted in the poem?

Ans-1 Shakespeare is a literary icon and stands for the elite and seems irrelevant to these children from the slum

Ans-2 Poverty, diseases, malnourishment, uncertainty, bleak future.

Ans-3
(1) Slum dwellers
(2) The rich and prosperous
Poem 3

KEEPING QUIET

- By Pablo Neruda (1904-1973)

THEME: Necessity of quiet introspection and creating a feeling of mutual understanding among humans. Emphasis on meditation.

Main Points

  1. The poet requests readers to keep quiet till he counts up to twelve
  2. He requests us not to use any language and move our arms so much for a while as it will become a hurdle in keeping quiet.
  3. When there is no rush; no movement and noise of engines, the threat of sudden strangeness will tie all of us together into an exotic moment
  4. This will bring about relief to the fishermen in cold sea and the salt gatherer also will be able to look after their injured bleeding hands.
  5. A good sense will also prevail on the war-mongers as they will understand the futility of the same
  6. When environment is in jeopardy; human-existence is threatened on the earth, the survivor of the war will face fatal consequences.
  7. Such war-mongers are also exhorted to put on clean clothes and walk about with their brothers
  8. The poet urges us not to mistake inactivity advocated by him for death.
  9. He clarifies that single-minded indulgence in the rat-race of self-centered goals leading to materialism is unwarranted.
  10. Keeping quiet and discharging our duties peacefully will evolve better understanding in us.
  11. The achievement of mental peace will lead us to introspection and mutual understanding. The absence of these two traits amounts to various conflicts in the world.
  12. With the development of mutual understanding comes empathy and then our life becomes a pleasant experience.
  13. The poet says like the earth the potentials may not be exhibited all the time.
  14. Finally, he declares his departure while persuading us to keep quiet.

Short Answer Questions

  1. What is the result of not speaking and not moving our arms so much?
  2. How does the poet suggest us to keep quiet?
  3. How will 'keeping quiet' benefit the mankind?

Poem 6  A ROADSIDE STAND

Robert Frost

THEME: The poem A Roadside Stand depicts the lives of the rural poor. Robert Frost is critical of the contemptuous way in which the city dwellers look at the villagers who yearn to sell their vegetables by setting up a roadside stand by the side of the highway. He reminds us that the economic well-being of a country depends on a balanced development of the villages and the cities.

Main Points:

Lines 1-22
The villagers have set up a roadside stand as an extension to their houses by the side of the highway. Though they ache for some money to better their living conditions, it would be unfair to say that these poor folk implore for charity. They expect the rich city dwellers who pass by in their speeding cars in the highway to stop and buy some of the local produce like berries or golden squash. But the humble roadside stand fails to impress the rich city people. Instead of helping these deprived folk, they complain about the tasteless way in which it is painted or the signboards that are marked wrong. The poet angrily says that the hurt to the scenery wouldn’t be his complaint. The poet conveys the ardent desire of the rural poor to feel some cash in their hands which help them to expand their living conditions. They may live the prosperous life depicted in movies which the party in power forbids them to enjoy.

Lines 23-31
The poet openly talks about the exploitation that takes place in the villages. The villagers are lured with the promise that they can stay near a theatre or a store and are.

Frost expands his theme by saying that 'good-doers' who want to re-locate the country people into the cities and lure them with the promise that if they went there, they would be able to access stores and cinemas. Thus, they deprive them of their reasoning skills and do more harm. They force these people to be dependent on others. The exploiters and the exploited lose their sleep. The exploiters lose their sleep because those who have earned their living by illicit means fail to have a good sleep at night. The exploited repent their foolish decisions and pine over the way in which they were cheated by others and are not able to sleep at night. Moreover, in the cities they are not able to work as they did in the rural places. Hence, they can’t sleep.
The poet finds it difficult to bear the pain of those who wait near the roadside stand with an open prayer to make the speeding cars to stop. Some of the cars do stop but to reverse, to ask the way or to ask for a gallon of gas.

The poet listens to the voice of the countryside that complains of how the requisite lift of spirit has not been given to it. It would be a great relief for him if he would be able to put them out of their pain with the help of a magic wand. But the next day when he returns to sanity, he realizes that it is impossible to happen and requests the reader to join him in his efforts.

Poetic Devices

Transferred Epithet: Polished traffic, Selfish cars

Personification: The sadness that lurks behind the window. The roadside stand that too pathetically pled

Alliteration: Greedy good doers, beneficient beasts of prey, pathetically pled

Oxymoron: Greedy good doers, beneficient beasts of prey

Metaphor: Flower of cities

Imagery: A roadside stand that too pathetically pled….

QUESTIONS BASED ON EXTRACTS:

1. Offered for sale are wild berries in wooden quarts
Or crook necked golden squash with silver warts,
Or beauty rest in a mountain scene…

Questions

a) What articles are ‘offered for sale’ at the stand?

b) What qualities of the ‘offered articles’ make them unfit for sale?

c) What does, ‘beauty rest in a mountain scene’ mean?

d) How does’ crook necked ‘and’ silver warts’ add to your understanding of the vegetables offered for sale?

Answers.

a) Wild berries in wooden containers, crook-necked golden squash with silver warts and paintings of mountain scenery are for sale at the roadside stand.
b) The articles for sale at the roadside stand are wild and therefore lack the polished look of the similar articles available in the cities. Moreover these articles are not packaged properly and they are far expensive than those in the cities.

c) Beauty resting in a mountain scene is probably a scenic painting made by the inhabitants of the roadside stand meant for selling to the rich people.

d) It tells that the vegetables are wild and lack the polish of the similar ones sold in the city. Hence they hold no appeal for the urban rich.

2. The hurt to the scenery wouldn’t be my complaint
   So much as the trusting sorrow of what is unsaid:
   Here far from the city we make our roadside stand
   And ask for some city money to feel in hand
   To try if it will not make our being expand,
   And give us the life of the moving pictures promise
   That the party in power is said to be keeping from us

Questions

a) Name the poem and poet

b) What is not a complaint for the poet?

c) What do the owners of the shack wish for?

d) How will it help them?

Answers

a) The poem is A Roadside Stand and the poet is Robert Frost.

b) The hurt to the scenery is not a complaint for the poet.

c) The owners of the shack wish to some cash by selling their products.

d) It will help them to better their living conditions.

SHORT ANSWER QUESTIONS

1. What do you mean by ‘polished traffic’?
   Polished traffic portrays the insensitive attitude and gentlemanly appearances of the city-men.

3. They appear to be ‘polished’ outside but their minds do not understand the sufferings of the poor people.

4. Explain, ‘passed with a mind ahead.’

   The city people who passed by the roadside stand were self-centered and their minds were restless with greed for money and ambitions for great profits in their business.

5. What are the usual complaints made by the city men when they stop at the roadside stand?

   The rich people to and from the cities usually have the same sets of complaints. Having failed to see the wretchedness of the poor, they complain that the roadside stand, with the tasteless way in which it is painted, ruined the beauty of the nature. Another complaint is that direction boards are wrongly written.

6. State the reasons for which the cars from the city halt at the roadside stand?

   Some cars stop at the roadside stand to take a reverse and some of them ask for directions to their destinations. A few of them demand fuel.
Poem 6

AUNT JENNIFER'S TIGERS

- By Adrienne Rich

THEME: The poem Aunt Jennifer's Tigers expresses the constraints of married life a woman experiences.

IMPORTANT POINTS TO REMEMBER:

1. The desire of a woman for freedom and strength has been brought out by the poet.
2. Aunt Jennifer has embroidered bright yellow tigers on a screen.
3. These tigers move about freely, fearlessly and confidently in the green forests.
4. They are not afraid of the hunters.
5. In contrast, Aunt Jennifer is weak and nervous.
6. To make her embroidery she finds the ivory needle hard to pull.
7. The wedding ring is symbolic of the burden of commitments and bindings of married life.
8. Her marriage with uncle has taken away her freedom and confidence to live life the way she wishes.
9. After her death, the mark of the wedding ring will continue to show her sad, burdened life.
10. She is mortal (dies) whereas the embroidery of tigers (Art) that she has made is immortal.

LITERARY DEVICES USED BY THE POET:

* SYMBOLS-

(I) Tigers: are fearless, bold, courageous and confident. Actually they are a reflection of Aunt Jennifer's inner self.
* Ring & Uncle's wedding band: show power of her husband on her, bondage, burden of marriage. The band has become metaphorically too heavy to break for Aunt Jennifer.

(a) Name the poem and the poet. (1m)
* Aunt Jennifer's Tigers & the poet is Adrienne Rich.

(b) What is Aunt Jennifer's death symbolic of?
* Aunt Jennifer's death is symbolic of her complete submission to her suppression.

(c) Is the society in any way affected by her death?
* No, the society is not affected by her death.

(d) What is the significance of "terrified hands"?
* Even after her death she has not been able to free herself from the chains of her mental suppression.
PRACTICE QUESTIONS:

Q1 Aunt Jennifer's tigers prance across a screen,
  Bright topaz denizens of a world of green,
  They do not fear the men beneath the tree;
  They pace in sleek chivalric certainty.
(i) Where are the tigers?
(ii) Are the tigers real?
(iii) What does "denizens" mean?
(iv) What is the significance of the line, "They do not fear the men beneath the tree"?

Q.3 Answer the following in about 30-40 words each:
(a) How are Aunt Jennifer's tigers different from her?
   *Value points:
   Aunt: weak, docile, submissive afraid of her husband.
   Tigers: bold courageous, confident, and elegant.
(b) What kind of married life did she lead? Do you sympathise with her? Why?
(c) What will happen to Aunt Jennifer's tigers after her death?
(d) Where are Aunt Jennifer's tigers?
(e) Why did Aunt Jennifer create the tigers?
Main Points

1. Grand Central Station of New York has two levels. But Charley, a thirty-one year old resident of New York, talks about a third level. He believes in the existence of this hypothetical third level and claims to have been there.

2. Charley visits a psychiatrist friend to talk about this problem. The psychiatrist calls it a “waking-dream wish fulfillment” and rationalizes Charley’s experience by saying that the “modern world is full of insecurity, fear, worry, and war...” and everybody wants to escape to some “temporary refuge from reality.” According to him, even hobbies like stamp collection is a manifestation of this escape. Charley thinks about his grandfather who didn’t need any refuge from reality. Charley’s grandfather started his collection.

3. The fast growing Grand Central station at times seems to be a maze to Charley. He had lost his way a couple of times earlier too while taking the subway.

4. Once, he entered the lobby of the Roosevelt Hotel while the other time he emerged at an office building that was three blocks away. But this time when he loses his way, something unique happens. He visits the third level!

5. Charley keeps walking in the quiet corridor, angling left and slanting downward, till he reaches an architecturally old station that is completely different from the two familiar levels.

6. The antiquated small room with fewer ticket counters and train gates, a wooden information booth, flickering open flame gas lights and brass spittoons reminds him of the architecture of the 1800s.

7. He also finds that people are dressed in outmoded outfits. He notices that the date on the newspaper ‘The World’ is printed June 11, 1894. As he tenders money to the clerk at the counter to buy two tickets, he realizes that he needs to have old currency bills to do so.
8. He had always wanted to travel to Galesburg with his wife, Louisa. In his mind, it is “a wonderful town still, with big old frame houses, huge lawns, and tremendous trees....” It is a place with long and pleasant summer evenings and where people have time for each other.
9. So, the next day during lunch, he exchanges three hundred dollars for old style bills amounting to some two hundred only.
10. The loss doesn’t bother him much as he believes that in Galesburg everything will be cheaper and that he can manage even with a small amount. But, he could never again find the corridor leading to the third level.
11. His wife Louisa is worried after knowing all this and asks him not to look for the third level any further. Suddenly Charley realises that his friend, Sam Weiner, is nowhere to be found, so he and his wife keep looking for him in the weekends.
12. Philately is not just stamp collection but a broad term including the study of stamps, postal history and other related items.
13. When a new stamp is issued, on the first day, people mail a blank paper to themselves and then retain that unopened letter with the date on the postmark. Such an envelope is known as a ‘first day cover’. Charley has inherited his grandfather’s collection of first day covers.
14. One day while fidgeting with his stamp collection, Charley comes across a letter that was not there earlier. It bears the postmark on a faded six-cent stamp with a picture of the President Garfield.
15. The envelope was sent on July 18, 1894 to Charley's grandfather in Galesburg and is addressed to Charley.
16. The letter was written by Sam Weiner, who was Charley's psychiatrist! Sam has reached Galesburg and is having whale of a time there.
17. He also invites Charley and Louisa to Galesburg. When Charley goes to the stamp and coin store, he is apprised of Sam's exchanging eight hundred dollars for the old currency bills.

SHORT ANSWER QUESTIONS
1. Do you think that the third level was a medium of escape for Charley? Why? /How did Charley’s psychiatrist friend interpret his unique experience?
Ans. Yes, the third level was a medium of escape for Charley from the unhappy modern world that is full of insecurity, fear, war, worry and the like. He could never find it again at the Grand Central Station. Charley did not agree with his psychiatrist friend when the latter called his experience of visiting the third level ‘a waking-dream wish fulfillment.’ His friend tried in vain to make him realise that his hallucinations are a result of his strong desire to escape to the peaceful times of the 1890s.

2. What is a first day cover?
When a new stamp is issued, on the first day, people mail a blank paper to themselves and then retain that unopened letter with the date on the postmark. Such an envelope is known as a ‘first day cover’.

LONG ANSWER QUESTIONS

1. What does the third level refer to?
Ans. The Grand Central Station of New York has subways on two levels from where the commuters take trains to different destinations. No third level was ever built. However, the protagonist of the story, Charley, believes in the existence of a third level, operating in a time-frame of 1890s. The third level signifies an escape from the modern world that is “full of insecurity, fear, war, worry and all the rest of it....” The period of 1890s represents a peaceful life not possible in the present era. From this level, the protagonist wants to travel to Galesburg, Illinois, with his wife Louisa. For him, it is a part of reality while his psychiatrist friend calls it a “waking-dream wish fulfilment.”

2. Would Charley ever go back to the ticket-counter on the third level to buy tickets to Galesburg for himself and his wife?
Ans. After reading the story we get to know that Charley was interested in travelling to Galesburg with his wife Louisa. However, he couldn’t locate the third level again. The first time round, he found the third level by accident. When he reached the ticket-counter, he realised that the currency he had with him was not useful as it belonged to a different period. He went back to convert his three hundred dollars into the “old-style currency” that could enable him to buy two tickets to Galesburg. However, when he returned to the Grand Central, he could not find the corridor leading to the third level. He couldn’t go back looking for the third level as his wife was too worried about him. Moreover, he himself had stopped looking for it after sometime.

3. What do you infer from Sam’s letter to Charley?
Ans. The letter was addressed to Charley but mailed to his grandfather in Galesburg, Illinois. It was mailed in 1894 and now appears in his grandfather’s collection. The letter was suddenly found among the first-day covers where it had never been seen earlier. Moreover, the contents of the letter are exactly what Charley thought about Galesburg of 1890s. Sam’s letter to Charley is a mystery that blends together the worlds of reality and fantasy, and thus, needs further exploring.
There are two perspectives from which one can look at the letter. At one level, it proves that Sam has reached Galesburg of 1984. However, if we look at a deeper level, we can infer that the letter is just another instance of his hallucination or dreams of escapism. It is possible that while Charley was looking at the old first-cover letter, he was carried away to a different world where the letter was sent to Charley by Sam. The letter reflects Sam’s undeterred urge that forces him to keep looking for the third level.
Lesson 2 The Tiger King

- By Kalki

THEME:
1. The story is a satire on the conceit of those in power.
2. It makes an earnest plea for the protection of tigers.

Main Points:
1. The Maharaja Sir Jilani Jung Jung Bahadur of Pratibandapuram is known as The Tiger King.
2. A Miracle
   (a) Infant- 10 days old spoke
   (b) Asked intelligent question- the source and manner of his death.
   (c) Cautioned all tigers.
3. The royal child grew stronger, taller.
4. Grew up in English environment
   - taught by an English Tutor -
   - drank milk of an English cow -
   - look after by an English Nanny -
   - watched English films.
5. At the age of 20 he was crowned as king.
7. Astrologer warned him to be careful with the 100th tiger.
8. He became the Sole Hunter and none other were allowed to hunt tiger.
9. He faced threat of losing his kingdom. One British officer was denied the permission to hunt tigers in Pratibandapuram or even get a photograph with the carcass of a tiger.
10. He saved his kingdom by gifting 50 expensive diamond rings, costing 3 lac rupees to the British officer's wife.
11. Maharaja killed 70 tigers in 10 years.
12. As there were no more tigers left in Pratibandapuram Maharaja married a girl from that royal state which had more tigers.
14. He was feverishly anxious to kill the 100th but couldn't find.
15. News regarding presence of tiger near a village.
16. Irrational behaviour of king towards villagers
   (a) First he gave 3-years tax exemption to find a tiger
   (b) Later in anger he doubled land tax as no tiger was found
17. The hundredth tiger
   (a) Dewan warned by the king
(b) Dewan had the tiger at home which he had earlier brought from people's park in Madras.
(c) Put that tiger in the forest.
(d) King shot the tiger collapsed.
(e) King thought it was dead went home triumphant.
(f) But actually he had missed the shot.
(g) Shot again and killed by hunters (not by the king).
(h) Carcass of the tiger was carried in procession and buried - tomb erected.

18. Maharaja's Death
(a) Maharaja gifted a wooden toy tiger to his son on his birthday.
(b) Toy tiger was made by unskilled worker.
(c) One tiny sliver pierced in king's left hand while he was playing with the toy with his son.
(d) Three famous surgeons from Madras operated.
(e) The operation successful but king died.
(f) Final revenge by hundredth tiger (wooden toy tiger).

Short Answer Question (30-40 words) (content 2+ expression 1 = 3 marks each.)
Q.1. What was the miracle that took place in the royal palace?
Ans. The miracle was associated with the birth of Maharaja. When he was only 10 days old infant he not only spoke but raised an intelligent question about the manner of his death. After knowing that he would be killed by a tiger he uttered "Let tigers beware".
Q.2. Why was it celebration time for all the tigers inhabiting Pratibandpuram?
Q.3. What did the Maharaja do when he stood in danger of losing his kingdom by refusing the British officer for tiger hunting?
Q.4. Why did Maharaja order the Dewan to double the tax?
Q.5. From where did the dewan arrange the hundredth tiger?

Long Answer Type Question (125-150 words) (content 3 + expression 3 = 6 marks each)
Q.1 Draw a character sketch of the Tiger king in your own words. Ans. - The maharaja of Pratibandapuram.
- The astrologers' prediction
- Tiger king brought up
- Maharaja's campaign of tiger hunting.
- The obstacles he faced to complete
- The special episode of 100th tiger.
- The revenge of wooden toy tiger.

Character traits :- Royalty, fearless, (showed signs in infancy) courageous, egoistic (spent his youth to disprove the prophecy) obsessed, whimsical

Q.2. How did the hundredth tiger avenge the death of all the tigers? Elucidate.
Q.3. The story is a satire on the conceit of those in power: Elucidate.
Q.4. What is the author's comment on subjecting innocent animals to the willfulness of human beings?
Main Points

1. The writer visited Antarctica, the coldest, driest and windiest continent in the world, aboard the Russian research vessel, Akademik Shokalskiy.
2. The journey, beginning at Chennai, passed through many areas, geographical, legal, ecological and temporal.
3. The writer’s first reaction to the continent was of relief, followed by wonder at its vastness, seclusion and geological history.

Part of History

4. Before human evolution, Antarctica was part of a huge tropical landmass called the Gondwana land, which flourished 500 million years ago.
5. Biological (flora and fauna), geological (changing continents) and geographical (climatic) changes occurred and Antarctica separated and moved away evolving into what it is today.
6. A visit to Antarctica gave the writer a deeper understanding of mountains, the earth’s history, ecology and environment.
7. The writer felt unsettled in two weeks’ time not only because she came from a much hotter place, but also because all features of human civilization were absent from an already desolate landscape.
8. The long summers, the silence broken occasionally by cracking ice sheets and avalanches, the blue whales and ice bergs, all contribute to an ecological implication that the future for humans isn’t good.

Human Impact

1. Humans, who are known to have existed for a mere 12000 years, have caused tremendous impact and played havoc with nature.
2. Population explosion, putting a strain on available resources, carbon emissions, fossil fuels and global warming have all resulted in climatic and ecological imbalances that have also affected Antarctica.
3. Antarctica, though unpopulated, has been affected and there are concerns for its half a million year old carbon records trapped under its ice sheets.
4. The ‘Students on Ice’ programme, an initiative of Canadian adventure educator, Geoff Green takes students on expeditions to Antarctica, to create awareness in them, the future policy makers.
5. The stark proof of global warming and environmental threats help students attain an understanding of ecosystems and biodiversity of our planet.
6. An amazing display of the food chain of the Southern Ocean helps in the understanding that further depletion of the ozone layer will set off a chain reaction that will affect the global carbon cycle.
7. The simple truth is, take care of the small things and the bigger ones will automatically be taken care of.
Walk on The Ocean

8. Before their return, the writer got an opportunity to walk on the ocean at 65.55 degrees south, which made her realize that she was walking on 180 meters of ocean water, a rich kaleidoscope of life.

9. Reaching home, she wondered whether Antarctica would ever be warm again, how much difference a million years can make and, that each day makes a difference.

1. How does the geological phenomenon help us to know about the history of mankind?
Ans. Geological phenomena give one an insight into why and how the present landforms came into being. About six hundred and fifty million years ago, there existed a giant southern supercontinent Gondwana. It thrived for 500 million years and finally it broke into separate countries as they exist today.

By visiting Antarctica we can know from where we have come from and where we are heading. It also helps us understand the importance of Cordilleran folds and pre-Cambrian Granite shields, ozone and carbon and also about the evolution and extinction. Its ice cores hold more than half –million-year old carbon records which are useful for the study of past.

2. What are the indications for the future of mankind?
• Future of mankind appears dismal.
• Increase in population has led to a “population boom.” It has greatly depleted the resources of nature, destroyed forests, caused extinction of certain species of wildlife.
• Excessive burning of fossil fuels has created a blanket of carbon dioxide around the earth.
• Antarctic environment has been affected by global warming- this is clear from receding glaciers and collapsing ice shelves.
• These grave indications do not auger well for the future of mankind

3. How is the study of Antarctica useful to us?
• Antarctica – only place in the world remaining pristine (never sustained human population)
• holds in its ice-cores half million year-old carbon records
• only place to study Earth’s past, present and future
• gives an insight into how the earth forms and continents as they are today came into being
• tells us about repercussions of environmental changes through the parable of phytoplankton
• enables us to study problems of global warming (glacier retreating, ice-shelves collapsing)
• concept of evolution and extinction, significance of Cordilleran folds and granite shields, ozone and carbon

1. What are Geoff Green’s reasons for including high school students in the ‘Students on Ice’ expedition?
Ans: A visit to Antarctica makes it quite clear and there one can see the ice shelves melting. ‘Students on Ice’ is a programme headed by Canadian Geoff Green. He aims at organizing this programme by taking high school students to the ends of the world. He thinks it most essential to provide the students with inspiring educational opportunities to know more about Antarctica. Through this programme they will generate a new understanding and respect for our planet. Earlier Geoff Green had organized programme with celebrities and rich people who could give him back only in a limited way. With Students on Ice, Geoff Green offers the future generations of policy-makers a life changing experience at an age when they are ready to absorb learn and most importantly, act. They can see through their own eyes glaciers retreating and ice-
They can realize the catastrophic effect of climatic changes and the global warming. Antarctica provides the young students a perfect place to study the varied changes occurring in the environment. These little changes can have significant consequences. Thus the programme provides a lively study of changes occurring at Antarctica.

2. ‘Take care of small things and big things will take care of themselves.’ What is the relevance of this statement in the context of the Antarctic environment?

- Ans : Antarctica has a simple ecosystem and lacks biodiversity. It is the best place to study how little changes in the environment can have big consequences. The author gives the example of microscopic plants called phytoplankton which nourish and sustain the entire southern ocean’s food chain. The phytoplankton uses the energy to absorb carbon and also synthesizes various organic compounds through photosynthesis. Scientists have forewarned that if Ozone layer depletes any further it will have a direct impact on the activities of the phytoplankton. This will lead to a chain reaction adversely affecting the lives of marine animals and birds of the region which will further result in the disturbance of global carbon cycle. So, humans should pay special attention to tiny forms of animal and plant life. The depletion of ozone layer can be prevented by reducing carbon dioxide emissions. If we take care of small things big things will automatically fall into place.

ADDITIONAL QUESTIONS
SHORT ANSWER QUESTIONS
1. Why does Tishani Doshi call her two week stay in Antarctica ‘a chilling prospect’?
2. Why does one lose all earthly perspective on reaching Antarctica?
3. How is present day Antarctica different from Gondwana?
4. What sort of brightness and silence prevail in Antarctica during summer?
5. “And for humans, the prognosis is not good”. Explain why the writer comes to such a conclusion.

LONG ANSWER QUESTIONS
1 Describe the author’s journey to the end of the Earth?
2 Describe the impact of Antarctica on the writer.
3 What are phytoplanktons? How are they important to our ecosystem?
Q4. What is the significance of the title ‘Journey to the End of the Earth’?
Q5 “A lot can happen in a million years but what a difference a day makes”. Discuss with reference to the lesson ‘A Journey to the End of the Earth’.
NOTES OF THE LESSON:

1. Important for Sadao Hoki
   1.1 His father's statements and priorities
   1.2 His wife's background
   1.3 American professor Harley

2. The shadow from the sea
   2.1 Staggering, Crawling, Falling
   2.2 A fisherman perhaps

SHORT ANSWER TYPE QUESTIONS
Q1. What do you learn about Sadao's father from the story?
   Ans. Sadao's father was a visionary. He knew that islands near the sea coast were the stepping stones to the future of Japan. No one could limit their future as it depended on what they made it. His son's education was his chief concern. He sent his son to America at the age of twenty-two to learn surgery and medicine. He loved the Japanese race, customs and manners.
Q2. Who was Sadao's wife? Where had he met her? Why did he wait to fall in love with her?
   Hint - American professor's house
   Party for new students
   Hana was Japanese
Q3. 'Both of them saw something black coming out of the mists '. What did they see and how did they react to it?
   Hint - A man crawling
   Sadao thought man as fisherman
   Sadao ran and Hana followed
Q4. What dilemma did Sadao face about the young white man?
   Hint - Putting him back into sea
   Being American, man was enemy
Handed him over to police
Man was wounded

Q5. How did the servants react when their master told them about the wounded white man?
Hint - Frightened and puzzled
Man ought to die
If healed, time would take revenge

Q6. Why had Hana to wash the wounded man herself?
Hint - Yumi refused to wash
Fierce look of Yumi made Hana afraid
Hana had no option

Q7. What did Hana inform Sadao about the servants? How did Sadao react to it?
Hint - Master sheltered a white man
- Americans were their enemies
- Trained not to let a man die
- Servants could not understand

Q8. Why did Dr Sadao tell the General everything about the man he had operated upon?
Hint - wanted to get rid of the man for his wife and his loyalty towards his country.
- Since operated, could not kill POW
- General absorbed the information and decided to take matters in his hands.

Q9. Why do you think, did the old General not want Dr Sadao to be arrested?
Hint - If General had an attack
He wanted Sadao to operate
No faith in other surgeons

Q10. What plan did the old General suggest for getting rid of the man?
Hint - General suggested killing the man
Offered to send assassins
Trick of inward bleeding
Leave the outer partition open

Q11. How was the plan of the prisoner's escape executed?
Hint - Dr Sadao provided essentials to man Flashlight to signal
Dressed in Japanese style
Head covered

Q12. What did the General tell Dr Sadao about his promise to kill the prisoner for him?
Hint - Sadao told prisoner escaped
General Confessed that he forgot his promise
Indicates General's Lack of Patriotism.
LONG ANSWER TYPE QUESTIONS

1. How can you say that Dr Sadao's father was a Japanese to the core?
   Ans. Dr Sadao's father had high dreams about the future of Japan. There was no limit of their future as it depended on what they made it. He never played or joked with his only son. But he spent infinite pains upon him. For the sake of the best possible medical education, he sent his son to America. Sadao met Hana there, but waited to fall in love until he was sure that she was a Japanese. His father would never have received her unless she had been pure in her race. Their marriage was arranged in the old Japanese way only after Sadao's father had seen her when both of them had come home to Japan after finishing their education.
   He was Japanese every inch. The floor of his room was deeply matted. He would never sit on chair or sleep in a foreign bed in his house. The quilt was covered with flowered silk and the lining was pure white silk. In short, everything here had been Japanese to please him.

2. What was the dilemma that Sadao faced when he saw a wounded, young white man washed to his doorstep? What solution did his wife, Hana, offer to resolve his predicament?
   Hint - young man needed treatment
   Helping American they could be arrested
   They could hand him over to police
   As a doctor Sadao could not let him die
   Hana suggested helping the man

3. Hana was a loving, caring, devoted and obedient wife who was quite anxious about her husband's wellbeing, position and reputation? Discuss.
   Hint - Hana understood her husband very well
   Sentimental, pragmatic approach
   Maintained her dignity
   Devoted wife
   Ideal life partner

4. What impression do you form of Dr Sadao as a man and as a surgeon from your reading of the story 'The Enemy'?
   Hint - Brave and Obedient Intelligent and hardworking
   Surgeon and scientist
   Sensitive and helpful
   Real doctor

5. Comment on the role of the General in the story 'The Enemy'.
   Hint - Suffering from attack
   Needed operation any time
   Have faith on Sadao
   Promised to help Sadao
   Offered assassins
   Forgot his promise
Lesson 5 -

SHOULD WIZARD HIT MOMMY

- John Updike

1. Story with the same characters everyday.

The story on the particular day (Saturday)

Main points

1. This time, Jack tells her the story of a baby Skunk who smelt very bad. No animal would play with Roger Skunk. He felt very bad and isolated.

2. The Skunk went to the wise owl and the owl sent him to the wizard.

3. The wizard changed his smell the sweet smell of roses. Skunk come back and played with other animals. Now, other animals liked him and he felt happy.

4. Roger's mother found his smell awful and took him back to wizard. She hit the wizard on his head and got her son's smell changed.

5. The end of the story is unacceptable to Jo. She is not happy with it. She wants the wizard to hit on the mother skunk's head.

6. She raised moral questions which baffled her father-she sticks to her points and does not accepts her father's perspectives.
Moral Issues Raised

(1) Adult's perspective
Practical, harsh, a world of inequalities, one should be what one is, parents know what is best for the child.

(2) Child's perspective
Rosy, romantic, socialist world, unrealistic because of limited intelligence and exposure.

(3) Discrimination and Rejection
Racial discrimination faced by Jack Skunk faces rejection due to bad smell.

Questions & Answers
1. What part of the story did Jack himself enjoy the most and why?

2. How did Jo want the wizard to behave when Mommy Skunk approached him?

3. What made Jo feel that the story was over?

(i) Jack enjoyed being the wizard most. He used to change his voice. He believed that being an old man suited him the most.

(ii) Joe was very sympathetic towards Roger Skunk—She wanted wizard to hit mommy. Roger Skunk hit the wizard, the latter also got annoyed with the smell, changed him into rose-smell—Joe liked it—wizard had done a noble thing.

(iii) She wanted a happy ending to the story. All stories that Jack told used to end happily. So when Roger smelled like roses and other animals played with him Jo thought the story was over.

LONG ANSWER QUESTIONS
1. What makes Jack feel caught in an ugly middle position?

Jack wanted to convey to his daughter the truth about the world. It’s an unequal and cruel world. One should stick on to one’s identity and not change according to the whims and fancies of the world. He knows that he is absolutely right but is not able to convince his daughter.

Jack is black. His wife is fair. The family is ‘half old ivory and half old tan’. When he told the story of the skunk he actually told about the humiliations that he faced in his childhood because of his race. So when he meets his wife, he is unable to bond with her. He loves her dearly but there is a momentary resentment.

Jack believes that Parents know what is right for their child. His mother helped him to overcome all discriminations. But his daughter is not ready to listen to his advice.
Jack believes that the child has the freedom to choose the characters in the story and knows that Joanne is right if you approached the story from a child’s perspective. But the chauvinist in him is not ready to accept the ending given to his story by his daughter. Jack was not able to put his daughter to sleep. Nor could he help his wife.

EXTRA QUESTIONS
1. An adult’s perspective is different from that of a child. Answer with reference to the story ‘Should Wizard hit Mommy?’
2. How would you explain the rational world of an adult versus the dream world of a child?
3. ‘Should Wizard Hit Mommy’. What is your stance regarding the two endings to the story?

Lamb inspires Derry

Teaches him:
* watching, listening & thinking
* shows him positive side of life.
* life cannot be lived in fear-narrates the story of a man who feared death-but died when a painting fell off the wall in the house & killed him.

Derry inspired:
* despite his mother's protests -returns to Lamb
* Lamb has a fall-dies.
* Derry is inspired to live life to the full.

Q1. Answer the following questions in about 30-40 words:
(i) How did Mr. Lamb get one of his legs blown off? What do children call him?

Lesson 7 -

EVANS TRIES AN 'O' LEVEL

- Colin Dexter

Main Points

(1) The story tells about Evans, a prisoner who wants to appear in an 'o' Level exams in German, to escape

(2) He is cunning and contrives to dodge the authority

(3) The prison authority arranges his test in his cell and beef up security there.

(4) Prison officer Stephens keeps on watching in the cell after every minute, through the peephole.

(5) After some time, prison authority receives a call from the examination board regarding a correction slip.

(6) Evans got the permission from the invigilator to put a blanket around him as he was feeling cold.

(7) McLeery, the invigilator (Evans's man) leaves the prison escorted by Stephens on the order of the governor of the prison.

(8) Stephens finds a person on Evans chair in wounded conditions.

(9) The wounded invigilator (Actual Evans) tells them Evans (here Mcleery) has gone towards Elsefield. He gets to know this through a photocopied sheet pasted at the last blank page of the question paper.

(10) He accompanies the police party to help it find the culprit.

(11) The detective superintendent informs the governor of Evans being near Elsefield way towards Headington round about, but he could not be traced later.

(12) He also informs that the wounded invigilator has been sent to the Red cliffs hospital.

(13) The hospital informs that there is no patient there and no one knows about him.

(14) Then, the governor understands that the wounded invigilator is actual Evans. The real invigilator, the real Mcleery is found tied in the study since 8:15 a.m.

(15) The analysis of the hints helps the governor nab Evans again. He is staying in the hotel Golden Lion in Chipping Norton.

(16) He confesses everything but again flees away.

(17) He outsmarts the authorities fourth time and has the 'Last Laugh'.

Major features:

Characters:

(1) The Secretary of the Examination Board
(2) The Governor of H.M. Prison Oxford
(3) James Roderick Evans (Evans, the protagonist of story) and a prisoner.
(4) Mr. Stephens - A Prison officer
(5) Mr. Jackson - A Prison officer
(6) Rev. Stuart McLeery - An Invigilator (Parson)
(7) Mr. Carter - Detective Superintendent,
    Mr. Bell - Detective chief Inspector.

Proceeding of Events

- Evans tries 'O' level German Exam in his cell in the prison
- Jacksons, Stephens visit Evans and snatch nail-Scissors and razors but not the 'Lucky Hat.
- The duplicate Mcleery (original tied & gagged in the library) reaches with all the exam-material. He also carries the clerical paraphernalia which Evans might need to escape.
- Evans takes permission to cover himself with a blanket, changes his dress.
- After the exams, the invigilator leaves, but authorities mistake him for Evans. The real Evans mistaken for the invigilator McLeery is found wounded in the cell.
- McLeery (Evans) claims that he knows where 'Evans' has gone pointing to the super imposed paper in the question paper. He is sent along with detective Carter.
- For the treatment, the real Evans is sent to hospital, thus, he escapes.
- Evans, after escape stays at the Golden Lion hotel. But the Governor catches him.
- Evans is arrested! No
  He is sent to the prison in a prison van. But inside the van, it is his own man-final Escape.

LONG ANSWER TYPE QUESTIONS

Q1. Why did Zitkala-Sa feel oppressed in new establishment?
   Ans. Since the day, the author was taken away from her mother, she had suffered extreme indignities. People had stared at her. She had been tossed about in the air like a wooden puppet. Her blanket had been removed from her shoulders. She felt that she was immodestly dressed. She was so shocked and oppressed that she felt like sinking to the floor. Later, her soft moccasins were taken away. These were traditional footwear of local Indian American. They were replaced by squeaking shoes. She saw other Indian girls in stiff shoes and tightly sticking dresses. The small girls wore sleeved aprons and shingled hair. The worst dignity she suffered was the cutting of her long hair. The coward’s shingled hair made her moan with anguish. She felt she was not a human being but one of the little animals driven by a herder. The systematic erosion of their culture and disrespect to women was quite oppressive.

Q2. “I will not submit! I will struggle!” Says Zitkala-Sa. What was she going to resist and why?
   What efforts did she make and what was the outcome?
   Hint - short hair worn by mourners, shingled by cowards
   Cutting hair against their tradition
   Hid herself in dark room
   Resisted cutting her hair
   Cried aloud

Q3. How did Bama react to the threshing proceedings in a corner of their street and the spectacle of a big man carrying a packet by its string?
   Hint - people working with cattle
   Saw a big man
   Manner of walking
   Carrying small packet with string
   Extended the packet to landlord
   Whole scene funny

Q4. How did Bama's brother explain the elder's behavior to her? What was her immediate reaction?
   Hint - lower caste must not touch upper caste people
   Felt terribly sad
   She felt provoked and angry
   They were too human beings
   Must not do petty jobs for miserly rich upper caste
Q.1 Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow:

What are the good parts of our civilization? First and foremost there are order and safety. If today I have a quarrel with another man, I do not get beaten merely because I am physically weaker and he can kick me down. I go to law, and the law will decide as fairly as it can between the two of us. Thus in disputes between man and man right has taken the place of might. Moreover, the law protects me from robbery and violence. Nobody may come and break into my house, steal my goods or run off with my children. Of course, there are burglars, but they are very rare, and the law punishes them whenever it catches them.

It is difficult for us to realize how much this safety means. Without safety these higher activities of mankind which make up civilization could not go on. The inventor could not invent, the scientist find out or the artist make beautiful things. Hence, order and safety, although they are not themselves civilization are things without which civilization would be impossible. They are as necessary to our civilization as the air we breathe is to us; and we have grown so used to them that we do not notice them any more than we notice the air.

Another great achievement of our civilization is that today civilized men are largely free from the fear of pain. They still fall ill, but illness is no longer the terrible thing it used to be.... Not only do men and women enjoy better health; they live longer than they ever did before, and they have a much better chance of growing up.... Thirdly, our civilization is more secure than any that have gone before it. This is because it is much more widely spread.... Previous civilizations were specialized and limited, they were like oases in a desert.

1. What is the first merit of our civilization?
   (A) Material advancement
   (B) Cultural advancement
   (C) Development of science
   (D) Order and safety
   (E) Spiritualism has become a way of life
2. Now-a-days a physically weak man is provided protection by:
   (A) The group whose membership he opts for

   (C) His wit and wisdom
   (D) His cunningness
   (E) His friend and supporters

3. In olden days the rule of life was:
   (A) Right
   (B) Might
   (C) Spiritualism
   (D) Money
   (E) None of these

4. The essential condition for the promotion of higher activities of life is:
   (A) Dedication on the part of those who practise them
   (B) Economic freedom
   (C) Safety
   (D) State support
   (E) Encouragement and appreciation

5. What according to the author, is the second merit of the present civilization?
   (A) Development of means of transport and communication
   (B) Space research
   (C) Freedom from drudgery
   (D) Freedom from the fear of pain
   (E) Mental enlightenment of the people

6. What according to the author has the freedom from the fear of pain led to?
   (A) Better health
   (B) Devotion to duty
   (C) Abundant leisure
   (D) Increased cultural pursuits
   (E) None of these

7. The third merit of the present civilization, according to the author, is:

   (B) The present civilization has liberal outlook on life
   (C) The present civilization has provided more leisure
   (D) The present civilization is more wide spread in the sense that large number of people are civilized now than ever before
8. 'They were like oases in a desert' what does it mean?
   (A) Previous civilizations were more attractive than the present civilization
   (B) Previous civilizations were confined to a very limited area while barbarians were far larger in number
   (C) Previous civilizations were shortlived
   (D) Previous civilizations were attractive from outside only
   (E) Previous civilizations were nature based

9. The present civilization:
   (A) Begins from 15th century
   (B) Begins from 16th century
   (C) Begins from 17th century
   (D) Begins from 18th century
   (E) Has no fixed date for its inception

   (C) Cowardice
   (D) Bravery
   (E) Power

Q2. Millions of people in the United States are affected by eating disorders. More than 90% of those afflicted are adolescents or young adult women. Although all eating disorders share some common manifestations, anorexia nervosa, bulimia nervosa, and binge eating each have distinctive symptoms and risks.

People who intentionally starve themselves (even while experiencing severe hunger pains) suffer from anorexia nervosa. The disorder, which usually begins around the time of puberty, involves extreme weight loss to at least 15% below the individual's normal body weight. Many people with the disorder look emaciated but are convinced they are overweight. In patients with anorexia nervosa, starvation can damage vital organs such as the heart and brain. To protect itself, the body shifts into slow gear: Menstrual periods stop, blood pressure rates drop, and thyroid function slows. Excessive thirst and frequent urination may occur. Dehydration contributes to constipation, and reduced body fat leads to lowered body temperature and the inability to withstand cold. Mild anemia, swollen joints, reduced muscle mass, and light-headedness also commonly occur in anorexia nervosa.

Anorexia nervosa sufferers can exhibit sudden angry outbursts or become socially withdrawn. One in ten cases of anorexia nervosa leads to death from starvation, cardiac arrest, other medical complications, or suicide. Clinical depression and anxiety place many individuals with eating disorders at risk for suicidal behavior.

People with bulimia nervosa consume large amounts of food and then rid their bodies of the excess calories by vomiting, abusing laxatives or diuretics, taking enemas, or exercising obsessively. Some use a combination of all these forms of purging. Individuals with bulimia who use drugs to stimulate vomiting, bowel movements, or urination may be in considerable danger, as this practice increases the risk of heart failure. Dieting heavily between episodes of binging and purging is common.

Because many individuals with bulimia binge and purge in secret and maintain normal or above normal body weight, they can often successfully hide their problem for years. But bulimia nervosa patients—even those of normal weight—can severely damage their bodies by frequent binge eating and purging. In rare instances, binge eating causes the stomach to rupture; purging may result in heart failure due to loss of vital minerals such as potassium. Vomiting can cause the esophagus to become inflamed and glands near the cheeks to become swollen. As in anorexia nervosa, bulimia may lead to irregular menstrual periods. Psychological effects include compulsive stealing as well as possible indications of obsessive-compulsive disorder, an illness characterized by repetitive thoughts and behaviors. Obsessive compulsive disorder can also accompany anorexia nervosa. As with anorexia nervosa, bulimia typically begins during adolescence. Eventually, half of those with anorexia nervosa will develop bulimia. The condition occurs most often in women but is also found in men.

Binge-eating disorder is found in about 2% of the general population. As many as one-third of this group is men. It also affects older women, though with less frequency. Recent research shows that binge-eating disorder occurs in about 30% of people participating in medically supervised weight-control programs.

This disorder differs from bulimia because its sufferers do not purge. Individuals with binge-eating disorder feel that they lose control of themselves when eating. They eat large quantities of food and do not stop until they are uncomfortably full. Most sufferers are overweight or obese and have a history of weight fluctuations. As a result, they are prone to the serious medical problems associated with obesity, such as high cholesterol, high blood pressure, and diabetes.
Obese individuals also have a higher risk for gallbladder disease, heart disease, and some types of cancer. Usually they have more difficulty losing weight and keeping it off than do people with other serious weight problems. Like anorexic and bulimic sufferers who exhibit psychological problems, individuals with binge-eating disorder have high rates of simultaneously occurring psychiatric illnesses, especially depression.

1. Fatalities occur in what percent of people with anorexia nervosa? 2M
2. What is common consequence due to all the eating disorders mentioned in the passage? 1M
3. How, according to the passage, are people with binge-eating disorder prone to heart ailments? 1M

5. Why do glandular functions of eating-disorder patients slow down? 2M
6. Find the words which mean the same as:
   a. Deliberately
   b. Eliminating
   1*2 = 2M

Q.3 Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow:

It's not your aptitude, but your attitude, that determines your altitude. We may have heard this adage but how many of us have realized it. Many times our friends and closed ones ask us to 'think positive' when we are feeling depressed, angry, anxious, frustrated or just down-right negative. But we often choose this advice as the last thing to do.

Continuous criticism and failures break our confidence and we often imbibe negativity in our approach. But controlling our negative emotions is a must for a healthy and successful life. Our unlimited desires and ambitions often drive us into a utopian world where we actually forget to cherish our significant accomplishments. This leads to pessimism. One must not forget that negative attitudes grip one's mind easily. People always regret that they wouldn't achieve success, but the reality is that where there is struggle, there is success. Just relish what the almighty has given you without paying heed to what you don't possess. This mantra will help you in weeding out negativity.

Every coin has two sides, so has the life- One is Negative and other is Positive. It totally depends on us how we want to see our lives and overcome the odds to land in a better tomorrow. Great people said 'failure is way to success'. Going by the adage, it's the failure which prepares us to try harder for success. The only thing that matters is our approach to handle any situation.

When we start looking at brighter side of life, negativity will automatically vanish. It depends upon us how to look beyond odds and take failures as challenges. If you want to march ahead and live a decent life, just scotch negative thinking and cynicism and embrace mantra that let by gone be by gone and welcome every morning with all verve and zeal.

There are many people who inspire us in our lives. Former President of India APJ Abdul Kalam, US President Barack Obama and several others has been the role model of many. Learn from their experiences. Their success stories teach us the bitter experiences of lives and prepare us... to handle adverse situations.
- When negative thoughts override your mind, resort to self-introspection. Explore your likes and dislikes. This will help you in rediscovering yourself.
- Start complimenting yourself. Pen down your accomplishments. This will boost your confidence and is beneficial for your inner growth.

SECTION A

READING - 30 Marks

1. Read the passage given below carefully and answer the questions that follow:

1. That large animals require luxuriant vegetation has been a general assumption which has passed from one work to another; but I do not hesitate to say that it is completely false, and that it has vitiated the reasoning of geologists on some points of great interest in the ancient history of the world. The prejudice has probably been derived from India, and the Indian islands, where troops of elephants, noble forests, and impenetrable jungles, are associated together in every one's mind. If, however, we refer to any work of travels through the southern parts of Africa, we shall find allusions in almost every page either to the desert character of the country, or to the numbers of large animals inhabiting it. The same thing is rendered evident by the many engravings which have been published of various parts of the interior.

2. Dr. Andrew Smith, who has lately succeeded in passing the Tropic of Capricorn, informs me that, taking into consideration the whole of the southern part of Africa, there can be no doubt of its being a sterile country. On the southern coasts there are some fine forests, but with these exceptions, the traveler may pass for days together through open plains, covered by a poor and scanty vegetation. Now, if we look to the animals inhabiting these wide plains, we shall find their numbers extraordinarily great, and their bulk immense.

3. It may be supposed that although the species are numerous, the individuals of each kind are few. By the kindness of Dr. Smith, I am enabled to show that the case is very different. He informs me, that in lat. 24', in one day's march with the bullock-wagons, he saw, without wandering to any great distance on either side, between one hundred and one hundred and fifty rhinoceroses - the same day he saw several herds of giraffes, amounting together to nearly a hundred.

4. At the distance of a little more than one hour's march from their place of encampment on the previous night, his party actually killed at one spot eight hippopotamuses, and saw many more. In this same river there were likewise crocodiles. Of course it was a case quite extraordinary, to see so many great animals crowded together, but it evidently proves that they must exist in great numbers. Dr. Smith describes the country passed through that day, as 'being thinly covered with grass, and bushes about four feet high, and still more thinly with mimosa-trees.'

5. Besides these large animals, anyone the least acquainted with the natural history of the Cape has read of the herds of antelopes, which can be compared only with the flocks of migratory birds. The numbers indeed of the lion, panther, and hyena, and the multitude of birds of prey, plainly speak of the abundance of the smaller quadrupeds: one evening seven lions were counted at the same time prowling round Dr. Smith's encampment. As this able naturalist remarked to me, the carnage each day in Southern Africa must indeed be terrific! I confess it is truly surprising how such a number of animals can find support in a country producing so little food.

6. The larger quadrupeds no doubt roam over wide tracts in search of it; and their food chiefly consists of underwood, which probably contains much nutriment in a small bulk. Dr. Smith also informs me that the vegetation has a rapid growth; no sooner is a part consumed, than its place is supplied by a fresh stock. There can be no doubt, however, that our ideas respecting the apparent amount of food necessary for the support of large quadrupeds are much exaggerated. The belief that where large quadrupeds exist, the vegetation must necessarily be luxuriant, is the more remarkable, because the converse is far from true.

7. Mr. Burchell observed to me that when entering Brazil, nothing struck him more forcibly than the splendour of the South American vegetation contrasted with that of South Africa, together with the absence of all large quadrupeds. In his Travels, he has suggested that the comparison of the respective weights (if there were sufficient data) of an equal number of the largest herbivorous quadrupeds of each country would be extremely curious. If we take on the one side, the elephants, hippopotamus, giraffe, bos caffer, elan, five species of rhinoceros; and on the American side, two tapirs, the guanaco, three deer, the vicuna, peccari, capybara (after which we must choose from the monkeys to complete the number), and then place these two groups alongside each other it is not easy to conceive ranks more disproportionate in size.

8. After the above facts, we are compelled to conclude, against anterior probability that among the mammalia there exists no close relation between the bulk of the species, and the quantity of the vegetation, in the countries which they inhabit. (809 words)

1.1 On the basis of your understanding of the passage, answer the following questions by choosing the most appropriate option:

1. The author is primarily concerned with
   A. discussing the relationship between the size of mammals and the nature of vegetation in their habitats
B. contrasting ecological conditions in India and Africa
C. proving that large animals do not require much food
D. describing the size of animals in various parts of the world

2. According to the author, the "prejudice? (Para 1) has lead to
   A. errors in the reasoning of biologists
   B. false ideas about animals in Africa
   C. incorrect assumptions on the part of geologists
   D. doubt in the mind of the author

3. The flocks of migratory birds (Para 5) are mentioned to
   A. describe an aspect of the fauna of South Africa
   B. illustrate a possible source of food for large carnivores
   C. contrast with the habits of the antelope
   D. suggest the size of antelope herds

4. Darwin quotes Burchell?s observations in order to
   A. counter a popular misconception
   B. describe a region of great splendor
   C. prove a hypothesis
   D. illustrate a well-known phenomenon

1.2 Answer the following questions briefly:
   1. What prejudice has vitiated the reasoning of geologists?
   2. Why does Dr. Smith refer to Africa as a sterile country?
   3. What is the "carnage? referred to by Dr. Smith?
   4. What does Darwin?s remark, "if there were sufficient data?, indicate?
   5. To account for the "surprising? number of animals in a "country producing so little food?, what partial explanation does Darwin suggest?
   6. What does the author conclude from Dr. Smith and Burchell?s observations?

   b) Barren ((Para 2)

Q2. Read the passage given below carefully and answer the questions that follow:

1. I?ve always held the belief that rationale or logic has no place in faith. If you have faith in the Supreme then you must also accept that you are not out there to defend your faith based on any scientific evidence. Those who don?t share your belief have an equal right to their opinion. What matters is your personal stand. If you feel peaceful and joyous, if you feel inspired to do good deeds by having your faith, then by all means keep it, there?s no reason to abandon it.
2. Einstein once got a letter asking if he believed in the Supreme. Einstein sent a telegram in response stating, "I believe in Spinoza's idea of the Supreme who reveals himself in the orderly harmony of what exists, not in someone who concerns himself with the fates and actions of human beings." In case you are not familiar, Baruch Spinoza (1632 - 1677) was a Dutch philosopher (yes, not just brilliant engineers, they have philosophers too). An unorthodox and independent thinker, his views were revolutionary at the time. His philosophy is thought-provoking. So, where does that leave us in regards to faith?

3. To me, faith is a sentiment, it's an emotion. Just like you fall in love and you surrender in love and you find yourself willing to do anything for the person you love, same is with faith. Faith is love. When you have faith, you let go off your worries of the future, you let go of your guilt of the past, because you have surrendered to the divine will. You remain committed to a life of goodness and action. But, you also recognize that there are other bigger forces, of immense scale, in play in the grand scheme of things and it'll do you much good to play along.

4. You gain this courage, zest and zeal to work hard, to excel, to serve. Life looks beautiful and everything looks priceless then, because it truly is. Even our suffering is priceless. It gives you strength, it makes you reflect on you. It is priceless because you appreciate life more, it brings you closer to you, the real you. Don't limit yourself by asking petty things from the Supreme. Trust the immensity of nature. Faith does not mean all your dreams will come true, it simply means you look upon everything that's granted to you as a blessing. Just focus on your deeds, and before long, you'll be filled beyond measure.

5. Accepting the transient nature of this world, and its eternal impermanence, is the definitive path to inner peace. Either live in complete surrender or exercise total control. If your boat is neither anchored nor guided, it'll just drift then. It'll drift in the direction of your thoughts, desires and emotions. Here today, there tomorrow.

6. Cosmic intelligence is infinitely more subtle, smart, organized and selfless than individual intelligence. Anchor your ship if you are tired of rowing. Have faith.

Q3. Read the following passage carefully:

1. Classical dance evolved from Tamil Nadu's temples across centuries. The revived and reformed Bharatanatyam keeps the art born of these ancient temples alive even to this day. Once sustained and nurtured in temples as part of a rich and vibrant temple tradition, classical dance in South India has remained over centuries a dynamic, living tradition that is continuously renewed.

2. Even 2000 years ago, dance in India was a highly evolved and complex art. It was an integral part of ancient Indian theatre as established by the Natya Shastra, the oldest and exhaustive treatise on theatre and dramaturgy. Dance dramas were performed in temple precincts. Dance movements were crystallised in stone as karanas in temple sculpture. Following the Bhakti movement in the 6th century, dance and music became powerful vehicles of veneration. The deity was treated like a much-loved king, praised and royally entertained with music and dance, as part of the daily sacred rituals of worship. Gifted, highly educated temple dancers or devadasis were supported by the temples that were richly endowed by the rulers. Some 400 temple dancers were dedicated to and maintained by the Brihadeswarar Temple in Thanjavur. Dance evolved as a composite art in temples as dancers, nattuvanars (dance gurus), musicians, poets, composers, architects, sculptors and painters shared a holistic approach to all the arts.

3. The evolution of Bharatanatyam derives from the invaluable contribution of The Tanjore Quartet. The four Pillai brothers - Chinnayya, Ponnayya, Sivanandam and Vadivelu - served as court musicians at the kingdom of Maratha king, Serfoji II in the early 19th century. Their legacy to Bharatanatyam has been their restructuring of the dance repertoire into the margam format and their vast and diverse music compositions set specifically for dance. Some of their descendants like Guru Meenakshisundaram Pillai evolved the famous Pandanallur bani (style) and trained many eminent dancers.

4. From the temples, dance made its way into the courts of kings and dancers were not just devadasis, but also rajanartakis. By the early 17th century dance forms like sadir or chinna melam, precursors to Bharatanatyam as we know it today had become popular in the courts of the Maratha rulers in Thanjavur. However, in the 19th century, colonial propaganda perceived such dance as vulgar and immoral. It led to the Anti-Nautch Movement and legislation against temple dance and dancers. Divested of all patronage and temple support, devadasis were thrown into dire straits. In the early 20th century, thanks to enlightened visionaries like EV Krishna Iyer and later, Rukmini Devi Arundale, and the dedication of a handful of devadasis and nattuvanars, classical dance was resuscitated and revived as bharatanatyam. Today, apart from a few cultural festivals in some temples, dance has left the temple for the proscenium stage. (454 words)

The passage given below carefully and answer the questions that follow:

1. One of the greatest sailing adventures of the past 25 years was the conquest of the Northwest Passage, powered by sail, human muscle, and determination. In 100 days, over three summers (1986-88), Canadians Jeff MacInnis and Mike Beedell accomplished the first wind-powered crossing of the Northwest Passage.

2. In Jeff MacInnis's words...Our third season. We weave our way through the labyrinth of ice, and in the distance we hear an unmistakable sound. A mighty bowhead whale is nearby, and its rhythmic breaths fill us with awe. Finally we see it relaxed on the surface, its blowhole quivering like a volcanic cone, but it senses our presence and quickly sounds. We are very disappointed. We had only good intentions - to revel in its beautiful immensity and to feel its power. Mike thinks how foolish it would be for this mighty beast to put any faith in us. After all, we are members of the species that had almost sent the bowhead into extinction with our greed for whale oil and bone. It is estimated that as many as 38,000 bowheads were killed off eastern Baffin Island in the 1800s; today there are about 200 left.

3. The fascinating and sometimes terrifying wildlife keeps us entertained during our explorations. Bearded harp and ring seals greet us daily. The profusion of bird life is awesome; at times we see and smell hundreds of thousands of thickbilled murres clinging to their cliffside nests. Our charts show we are on the edge of a huge shoal where the frigid ocean currents upswell and mix nutrients that provide a feast for the food chain. At times these animals scare the living daylights out of us. They have a knack of sneaking up behind us and then shooting out of the water and belly flopping for maximum noise and splash. A horrendous splash coming from behind has a heart-stopping effect in polar bear country.

4. We have many encounters with the "Lords of the Arctic," but we are always cautious, observant, and ever so respectful that we are in their domain. In some regions the land is totally devoid of life, while in others the pulse of life takes our breath away. Such is the paradox of the Arctic; It's wastelands flow into oasis' that are found nowhere else on the face of the earth. Many times we find ancient signs of Inuit people who lived here, superbly attuned to the land. We feel great respect for them; this landscape is a challenge at every moment.

5. We face a 35 mile open water passage across Prince Regent Inlet on Baffin Island that will take us to our ultimate goal - Pond Inlet on Baffin Bay. The breakers look huge from the water's edge. Leaning into the hulls, like bobsledders at the starting gate, we push as hard as we can down the gravel beach to the sea. We catch the water and keep pushing until we have plunged waist deep, then drag ourselves aboard. Immediately, we begin paddling with every ounce of effort. Inch by agonizing inch, Perception moves offshore. Sweat pours off our bodies. Ahead of us, looming gray-white through the fog, we see a massive iceberg riding the current like the ghost of a battleship. There is no wind to fill our sails and steady the boat, and the chaotic motion soon brings seasickness. Slowly the wind begins to build. Prince Regent Inlet now looks ominous with wind and waves. The frigid ocean hits us square in the face and chills us to the bone.

6. We were on the fine edge. Everything the Arctic had taught us over the last 90 days was now being tested. We funneled all that knowledge, skill, teamwork, and spirit into this momentous crossing... If we went over in these seas we could not get the boat back up. Suddenly the wind speed plummeted to zero as quickly as it had begun.... Now we were being pushed by the convulsing waves toward sheer 2,000 foot cliffs. Two paddles were our only power. Sailing past glacier capped mountains, we approached the end of our journey. At 05:08 on the morning of our hundredth day, speeding into Baffin Bay, the spray from our twin hulls makes rainbows in the sun as we complete the first sail powered voyage through the Northwest Passage.

7. We have journeyed through these waters on their terms, moved by the wind, waves and current. The environment has always been in control of our destiny; we have only tried to respond in the best possible way. We've been awake for nearly 23 hours, but we cannot sleep. The joy and excitement are too great. Our Hobie Cat rests on the rocky beach, the wind whistling in her rigging, her bright yellow hulls radiant in the morning sunlight. She embodies the watchword for survival in the Arctic - adaptability. (838 words)

Q2. Read the passage given below carefully and answer the questions that follow:

1. By the time a child is six or seven she has all the essential avoidances well enough by heart to be trusted with the care of a younger child. And she also develops a number of simple techniques. She learns to weave firm square balls from palm leaves, to make pinwheels of palm leaves or frangipani blossoms, to climb a coconut tree by walking up the trunk on flexible little feet, to break open a coconut with one firm well-directed blow of a knife as long as she is tall, to play a number of group games and sing the songs which go with them, to tidy the house by picking up the litter on the stony floor, to bring water from the sea, to spread out the copra to dry and to help gather it in when rain threatens, to go to a neighboring house and bring back a lighted faggot for the chief's pipe or the cook-house fire.

2. But in the case of the little girls all these tasks are merely supplementary to the main business of baby-tending. Very small boys also have some care of the younger children, but at eight or nine years of age they are usually relieved of it. Whatever rough edges have not been smoothed off by this responsibility for younger children are worn off by their contact with older boys. For little boys are admitted to interesting and important activities only so long as their behavior is circumspect and helpful

3. Where small girls are brusquely pushed aside, small boys will be patiently tolerated and they become adept at making themselves useful. The four or five little boys who all wish to assist at the important, business of helping a grown youth lasso reef eels, organize themselves into a highly efficient working team; one boy holds the bait, another holds an extra lasso, others poke eagerly about in holes in the reef looking for prey, while still another tucks the captured eels into his lavalava. The small girls, burdened with heavy babies or the care of little staggerers who are too small to adventure on the reef, discouraged by the hostility of the small boys and the scorn of the older ones, have little opportunity for learning the more adventurous forms of work and play.

4. So while the little boys first undergo the chastening effects of baby-tending and then have many opportunities to learn effective cooperation under the supervision of older boys, the girls’ education is less comprehensive. They have a high standard of individual responsibility, but the community provides them with no lessons in cooperation with one another. This is particularly apparent in the activities of young people: the boys organize quickly; the girls waste hours in bickering, innocent of any technique for quick and efficient cooperation. Q3. Read the following passage carefully:

1. It seems that there is never enough time in the day. But, since we all get the same 24 hours, why is it that some people achieve so much more with their time than others? The answer lies in good time management. "Time management" refers to the way that you organize and plan how long you spend on specific activities. Good time management requires an important shift in focus from activities to results: being busy isn't the same as being effective. (Ironically, the opposite is often closer to the truth.) Spending your day in a frenzy of activity often achieves less, because you're dividing your attention between so many different tasks. Good time management lets you work smarter - not harder - so you get more done in less time.

2. It may seem counter-intuitive to dedicate precious time to learning about time management, instead of using it to get on with your work, but the benefits are enormous. It improves productivity and efficiency. Your reputation as a professional grows. The stress levels dip and more opportunities open up for you. Your career advances and important goals are reached.

3. Failing to manage your time effectively can have some very undesirable consequences. Deadlines are missed and the work flow is not only inefficient but of poor quality. It dents your reputation as a professional and your career is in danger of being stalled. As a result your stress level shoots up.

4. Everyday interruptions at work can be a key barrier to managing your time effectively and, ultimately, can be a barrier to your success. Think back to your last workday, and consider for a minute the many interruptions that occurred. There may have been phone calls, emails, hallway conversations, colleagues stopping by your office, or anything else that unexpectedly demanded your attention and, in doing so, distracted you from the task at-hand. Because your day only has so many hours in it, a handful of small interruptions can rob you of the time you need to achieve your goals and be successful in your work and life. More than this, they can break your focus, meaning that you have to spend time re-engaging with the thought processes needed to successfully complete complex work. The key to controlling interruptions is to know what they are and whether they are necessary, and to plan for them in your daily schedule. (403 words)

6. Although students have been using cell phones consistently in their daily lives for almost a decade, schools continue to resist allowing the devices into the classroom. Schools generally grapple with new technologies, but cell phones’ reputation as a nuisance and a distraction has been hard to dislodge. Using information given below prepare a speech in about 150-200 words in favour of or against the cell phone being allowed in schools. Critics believe that allowing these devices will only encourage their non-educational use in school. They will be a significant distraction for teachers and students a potential tool for cheating could foster cyberbullying. But on the other hand BYOD-Bring Your Own Device is gaining momentum as a learning tool, not just a toy for entertainment can be cost effective for the schools instead of having to purchase technology for students. many educators believe that banning any type of technology can foster inequity. Schools can develop rules for how students physically handle the device in the classroom.

   OR
   Griffin is the model of science without humanity. Justify with reference to the Invisible Man.
For four days, I walked through the narrow lanes of the old city, enjoying the romance of being in a city where history still lives - in its cobble stone streets and in its people riding asses, carrying vine leaves and palm as they once did during the time of Christ.

This is Jerusalem, home to sacred sites of Christianity, Islam and Judaism. This is the place that houses the church of the Holy Sepulchre, the place where Jesus was finally laid to rest. This is also the site of Christ's crucifixion, burial and resurrection.

Built by the Roman Emperor Constantine at the site of an earlier temple to Aphrodite. It is the most venerated Christian shrine in the world. And justifiably so. Here, within the church are the last five stations of the cross, the 10th station where Jesus was stripped of his clothes, the 11th where he was nailed to the cross, the 12th where he died on the cross, the 13th where the body was removed from the cross, and the 14th, his tomb.

For all this weighty tradition, the approach and entrance to the church is non-descript. You have to ask for directions. Even to the devout Christian pilgrims walking along the Via Dolorosa - the Way of Sorrows - first nine stations look clueless. Then a courtyard appears, bemmed in by other buildings and a doorway to one side. This leads to a vast area of huge stone architecture.

Immediately inside the entrance is your first stop. It's the stone anointing this is the place, according to Greek tradition, where Christ was removed from the cross. The Roman Catholics, however, believe it to be the spot where Jesus' body was prepared for burial by Joseph.

What happened next? Jesus was buried. He was taken to a place outside the city of Jerusalem where other graves existed and there, he was buried in a cave. However, all that is long gone, destroyed by continued attacks and rebuilding; what remains is the massive - and impressive - Rotunda (a round building with a dome) that Emperor Constantine built. Under this, and right in the centre of the Rotunda is the structure that contains the Holy Sepulchre.
7. "How do you know that this is Jesus' tomb?" I asked one of the pilgrims standing next to me. He was clueless more interested like the rest of them in the novelty of it all and in photographing it, than in its history or tradition.

8. At the start of the first century, the place was disused quarry outside the city walls. According to the gospels, Jesus' crucifixion occurred at a place outside the city walls with graves nearby... Archaelogists have discovered tombs from that ear, so the site is compatible with the biblical period.

9. The structure at the site is marble tomb built over the original burial chamber. It has two rooms, and you enter four at a time into the first of these, the Chapel of the Angel. Here the angel is supposed to have sat on stone to recount Christ's resurrection. A low door made of white marble, partly worn away by pilgrims' hand leads to a smaller chamber inside. This is the room of the tomb, the place where Jesus was buried.

10. We entered in single file. On my right was a large marble slab that covered the original rock bench on which the body of Jesus was laid. A woman knelt and prayed. Her eyes were wet with tears. She pressed her face against the slab to hide them, but it only made it worse.

On the basis of your understanding of this passage answer the following questions with help of given options

(k) Find words from the passage which mean the same as:

   (i) A large grave (para 3)
   (ii) Having no interesting features/dull (para 4)

1. Read the passage given below carefully:

1. We often make all things around us the way we want them. Even during our pilgrimages we have begun to look for whatever makes our heart happy, gives comfort to our body and peace to the mind. It is as if external solutions will fulfill our needs, and we do not want to make any special efforts even in our spiritual search. Our mind is resourceful - it works to find shortcuts in simple and easy ways.

2. Even pilgrimages have been converted into tourism opportunities. Instead, we must awaken our conscience and souls and understand the truth. Let us not tamper with either our own nature or that of the Supreme.

3. All our cleverness is rendered ineffective when nature does a dance of destruction. Its fury can and will wash away all imperfections. Indian culture, based on Vedic treatises, assists in human evolution, but we were now using our entire energy in distorting these traditions according to our convenience instead of making efforts to make ourselves worthy of them.

4. The irony is that human are not even aware of the complacency attitude they have allowed themselves to sink to. Nature is everyone's Amma and her fierce blows will sooner or later corner us and force us to understand this truth. Earlier pilgrimages to places or spiritual significance were rituals that were undertaken when people became free from their worldly duties. Even now some seekers take up this pious religious journey as a path of peace and knowledge. Anyone travelling with this attitude feels and travels with only a few essential items that his body can carry. Pilgrims traditionally travelled light, on foot, eating light. dried chickpeas and fruits, or whatever was available. Pilgrims of olden days did not feel the need to stay in special AC bedrooms, or travel by luxury cars or indulge themselves with delicious food and savouries.

5. Pilgrims traditionally moved ahead, creating a feeling of belonging towards all, conveying a message of brotherhood among all they came across whether in small caves, ashrams or local settlements. They received the blessings and congregations of yogis and mahatmas in return while conducting the dharama of their pilgrimage is like penance of sadhana to stay near nature and to experience a feeling of oneness with it. to keep the body healthy and fulfilled with the amount of food, while seeking freedom.
from attachments and yet remaining happy while staying away from relatives and associates.

6. This how a pilgrimage should be rather than making it like a picnic by taking a large group along and living in comfort, packing in entertainment, and tampering with environment. What is worse is giving a boost to the ego of having had a special darshan. Now alms are distributed, charity done while they brag about their spiritual experience.

7. We must embark on our spiritual journey by first understanding the grace and significance of a pilgrimage and following it up with the prescribed rules and rituals—this is what translates into the ultimate and beautiful medium of spiritual evolution. There is no justification for tampering with nature.

8. A pilgrimage is symbolic of contemplation and meditation and acceptance, and is a metaphor for the constant growth or movement and love for nature that we should hold in our hearts.

9. This is the truth!

On the basis of your understanding of the above passage answer the question that follow with the help of given options:

(a) How can a pilgrim keep his body healthy?
   (i) By travelling light
   (ii) By eating small amount of food
   (iii) By keeping free from attachments
   (iv) Both (i) and (ii)

(b) How do we satisfy our ego?
   (i) By having a special darshan
   (ii) By distributing alms
   (iii) By treating it like a picnic
   (iv) Both (i) and (ii)

Answer the following as briefly as possible:

(c) What change has taken place in our attitude towards pilgrimages?

(d) What happens when pilgrimages are tuned into picnics?

(e) Why are we complacent in our spiritual efforts?

(f) How does nature respond when we try to be clever with it?

(g) In olden days with what attitude did people go on a pilgrimage?

(h) What message does the passage convey to the pilgrims?

(i) Find words from the passage which mean the same as the following:
   (i) made/turned (para 3)
   (ii) very satisfied (para 4)
3. Read the passage given below carefully:

It is surprising that sometimes we don't listen to what people say to us. We hear them, but we don't listen to them. I was curious to know how hearing is different from listing. I had thought both were synonyms, but gradually I realised there is a big difference between the two words. Hearing is a physical phenomenon. Whenever somebody speaks, the sound waves generated reach you, and you definitely hear whatever is said to you. However, even if you hear something it doesn't always mean that you actually understand whatever is being said. Paying attention to whatever you hear means you are really listing. Consciously using your mind to understand whatever is being said is listing.

Diving deeper, I found that listing is not only hearing with attention, but is much more than that. Listening is hearing with full attention, and applying our mind. Most of the time, we listen to someone, but our minds are full of needless chatter and there doesn't seem to be enough space to accommodate what is being spoken. We come with a lot of prejudices and preconceived notions about the speaker or the subject on which he is talking. We pretend to listen to the speaker, but the deep inside, we sit in judgment and are dying to pronounce right or wrong, true or false, yes or no. Sometimes, we even come prepared with a negative mindset of proving the speaker wrong. Even if the speaker says nothing harmful, we are ready to pounce on him with our own version of things. What we should ideally do is listen first with full awareness. Once we have done that, we can decide whether we want to make a judgement or not. Once we do that, communication will be perfect and our interpersonal relationship will become so much better. Listening well doesn't mean our has to say the right thing at the right moment. In fact, sometimes if words are left unspoken, there is a feeling of tension and negativity. Therefore, it is better to speak out our mind, but do so with awareness after listening to the speaker with full concentration.

Let's book at this is another way. When you really listen, you imbibe not only what is being spoken, but you also understand what is not spoken as well. Most of the time we don't really listen even to people who really matter to us. That's how misunderstanding grow among families, husband and wives, brother and sister.

1. Read the passage given below:

(1) Subhash Chandra Bose fulfilled a promise to his father that he would sit for the Indian Civil Service examination in London. He secured the fourth position in 1920 but then went on to fulfill his own wish. He resigned from the coveted service the following year, saying “only on the soil of sacrifice and suffering can we raise our national edifice”. Returning to India, he plunged into the national struggle and by 1923, was secretary of the Bengal State Congress and President of All India Youth Congress.

(2) By 1927, he emerged, along with Jawaharlal Nehru, as leader of the new youth movement, which came into its own by playing a major role in the anti-Simon Commission agitation which swept India that year. He was also the chief organizer of the Calcutta session of the Indian National Congress (INC) in December 1928, which demanded that the goal of the congress be changed to ‘Purna Swaraj’ or ‘Complete Independence’.

(3) Imprisonment in the Civil Disobedience movement followed by bad health in 1932 took him to Europe where he observed European politics, particularly Fascism under Mussolini and Communism in the Soviet Union. He was impressed by both and believed that authoritarian rule was essential for achieving radical social goals.

(4) In fact, it is in this period that political views of Nehru and Bose begin to diverge sharply, especially on the issue of Fascism and Nazism. Nehru was so vehemently opposed to Fascism that he refused to meet Mussolini even when the latter sought him out, whereas Bose not only met Mussolini but was impressed by him. Nehru was sharply critical of the growing danger to the world from the rise of Hitler. Bose, on the other hand, never expressed that kind of aversion to Fascism, and was quite willing to seek the support of Germany and later Japan against Britain. However, he was not happy with the German attack on Soviet Union in 1941, and that was one reason why he left Germany for Japan. For Bose, Socialism and Fascism were not polar opposites, as they were for Nehru.

(5) In 1938, Bose was unanimously elected, with the full support of Gandhiji, as Congress president for the Haripura session. But the next year, he decided to stand again, this time as a representative of militant and radical groups. An election ensued which Bose won by 1,580 to 1,377 votes, but the battle lines were drawn. The challenge he threw by calling Gandhian leaders rightists who were working for a compromise with the British government was answered by 12 members of the working committee resigning and asking Bose to choose his own committee. Nehru did not resign with other members but he was unhappy with Bose’s casting of aspersions on senior leaders. He tried his best to mediate and persuade Bose not to resign.
(7) The crisis came to a head at Tripuri in March 1939, with Bose refusing to nominate a new working Committee and ultimately resigning. The clash was of policy and tactics. Bose wanted an immediate struggle led by Gandhiji, whereas Gandhiji felt the time was not ripe for struggle.

(8) Having burnt his boats with the Congress, Bose went to Japan in 1943 to seek help in the struggle against their common enemy, Britain. He finally went Singapore to take charge of the Indian National Army (INA) which had been formed by Mohan Singh in 1941 from Indian prisoners of war captured by the Japanese. The INA was clear that it would go into action only on the invitation of the INC; it was not set up as a rival Centre of power. Bose made this more explicit when on July 6, 1944, in a broadcast on Azad Hind Radio addressed to Gandhiji, he said, “Father of our Nation! In this holy war of India’s liberation, we ask for your blessing and good wishes”.
